INTRODUCTION

APRIL 1945.

The loss of President Roosevelt was deeply felt throughout the base. The flag was lowered, all festivities were cancelled and memorial services were held both on and off the base. It was more than a personal or even national loss. The entire future of the world darkened for a moment. With his passing, a powerful force for good was extinguished, and the San Francisco Conference opened in the shadow of his greatness.

The first twenty days of April were busy ones, with fifteen combat missions digging deepen into Crater Germany. The war was in the 'any day now' stage. The disintegration of German arms turned from rumor to reality. And suddenly there was no place left to bomb. American, Russian, British armor ate up the mileage on Adolphs slick Autobahns, and the planes remained on the ground for the final ten days of the month.

The fifteen missions visited Kiel twice, then Nurnburg, Leipzig and Buchen, Germany. Rail yards in Eger, Czechoslavakia were hit next. Back to Germany for targets at Munich, Burg and Landshut. Over to France, where tank and gunemplacements were hit at Royan twice and Point de Grave once. Aussig, Czechoslavakia came next, and the bombing of Straubing and Oranienburg, Germany rounded out the bombing for the month. And as the final day of the month came around, it was felt that the end of all bombing in this theatre had been reached.

During the month, the entire organizational set-up of the base was shuffled, cut, rearranged and streamlined. Many of the smaller units were deactivated and absorbed into three new Groups that rose in their place. Among the deactivated units were the 1141st QM Co. Service Gp. AVN, the 456th Sub-Depot, the 216th Finance Section, the 1285th MP Co., the 592nd Postal Unit, the 28th Station Complement Squadron and the 18th Weather Detachment.

The new groups formed were the 412th Air Service Group, the 662nd Air Materiel Squadron and the 838th Air Engineering Squadron.

April was 300-Mission Month for the 100th Bomb Group, and toward the end of the month, dances were held at the Officer's, Big Top and Non-Com Clubs. Bitters, women and song predominated, and a sudsy time was had by all.

As the month closed, the major themes seemed to be, "How many more days to V-E Day?" and "Where do we go from here?"....

3 April 1945. Tactical Report from 13th CBW. (Excerpts.) 13B- 100A, B, C, D. Target: Kiel, Germany. A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF. Navigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to 0500E. The bomber stream started to the left of course at this point and continued further from course until 5450-0745. At this point, which was 40 miles North of course, a correction was made to the briefed course. The deviation from briefed course was due to a wind shift which the Division leader evidently did not notice. Bombing altitude was reached 72 minutes prior to the IP. The peel off was made at the IP for individual H2X runs to the 2nd Priority Target. Weather: Enroute to the target there were 7-9/10 cumulus at 15-17000 feet. In the target area there were 8-10/10 cumulus and strata-cumulus at 10-12000' and

4-6/10 alto-stratus at 18-20000', with a large break just to the North of the target over water. Bombing: 100A- After the maneuver at the IP, the RN proceeded to set up course by H2X technique. The bombardier was clutched in at 12 miles and subsequent rate checks at 11, 10, 9, 7, and 6 miles were made, The rate checks at 11 and 10 miles were not good and required adjustments. No visual assistance was given on the bomb run. H2X equipment operated satisfactorily.

PI: Photos show 10/10 undercast.

100B- Range and definition of H2X set was too weak and could not be used for bombing. 100B released its bombs on the smoke flares of 100A. PI: Photos show 10/10 undercast.

1000- RN identified the target in the scope at 47 miles. After the turn on the IP, the RN clutched in the bombardier at 11 miles. Subsequent rate checks of 9, 8, 7, 6, and 5 miles were made. The 7 mile check was not good and an adjustment was required.

PI: Photos show 10/10 undercast.

100D- Target identified at 40 miles. Bombardier was clutched in at 11 miles and subsequent rate checks at 10, 9, 8, and 7 miles were made. Rate checks 10 and 9 were not good and required adjustments PI: Photos show 10/10 undercast.

Losses: One. A/C #992.

Failures: One. A/C #297. #4 engine failure.

4 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13 CBW. (Excerpts) 13B- 100A, B, C, D Squadrons. Target: Kiel, Germany (H2X). A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF. Navigation: Enroute to CP 2 there was considerable essing to avoid overrunning of the 4th Ming. The "S"ing continued after CP 2 and there was interference from 4D, which was lagging. After the pre-IP, which was made good, the ding leader was again forced to make a large "S" to the North and west, because the Division leader overshot the pre-IP and turned due North. A 180 degree turn was made to the IP and the groups peeled off on individual H2X runs to the 2nd priority target. 13B leveled off at 24000 feet, because it was pulling excessive power in the climb. At the IP, 930 (490) cut in between 13A and 13B and remained there until shortly after the RP. After bombs away, 930 (490) was abreast of 13B, forcing 13B to overshoot the RP. Weather: In the target area there were 7-8/10 cumulus at 10-12000' with thin alto-cumulus at 18-20000'. Bombing: 100A- After the turn on the IP, the RN picked up the target at 32 miles and initiated the attack on a true heading of 090 degrees. The bombardier was clutched in at 10 miles and subsequent rate checks of 9, 8, 7, 6 and 5 miles were good. Because of existing weather conditions, the bombardier was unable to give any visual assistance. H2X equipment operated satisfactorily on the route in, but on the withdrawal route the inverters were erratic causing interference in the scope. PI: The bombs fell 3000' NE (over) of the 2nd priority target in the Innenhafen and a fully built-up factory and residential area. Clouds obscure a portion of the pattern. 100B-The RN picked up target at 45 miles and proceeded to set up course. 10 seconds prior to bombs away the bombardier was able to make a correction for rate as it was possible to recognize the immediate target area. Te positioned the cross hairs on the clouds covering the target using check points outside the target area. H2X equipment operated satisfactorily but range over water was weak. PI: The bombs fell 9000' SSE (short and right) of the 2nd priority target in fields. There were several hits on two separate RR tracks leading E and S.7 from Kiel. Clouds obscure a portion of the pattern. 1000- PI: The bombs fell in the Schreven Teich lake, the Hohenzollern Park area, and among scattered residences 7250' INV (short) of the target. 100D- PI: The bombs fell in fields 13,500' S (right and slightly over) the target. Clouds obscure most of the pattern. Losses: None. Failures: A/C #811- Engine trouble.

13A- 100A, B, C, D Squadrons.

Target: Nurnberg, Germany.

A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF.

Navigation: Enroute to the IP all units climbed to 27,000' to clear the tops of the clouds. 13A descended to 25,000' shortly before the IP. The peel off was made at the IP for individual H2X runs to the 2nd priority target. Reassembly of the Wing after bombs away was hampered by clouds and contrails, and was completed at the turning point after the RP. The route was flown essentially as briefed until approximately 0600E, when a cloud bank broke up the formations into small units which did not reassemble.

Weather: In the target area there were 6 to 7/10 cumulus but 2 to 3/10 in immediate target area, and fine cirrus above 30,000'.

Bombing: 100A- After the turn on the IP, the RM took over and proceeded to set up course for the second priority target, initiating the attack on a true heading of 072 degrees. The bombardier was clutched in at 11 miles and subsequent rate checks of 10, 9, and 8 miles were made. After the 8 mile check, the bombardier was able to take over visually and with 90 seconds to the BRL he proceeded to synchronize. A 50 degree correction to the right was necessary to make course good to the 1st priority target. At bombs away, rate was good but course was off. H2X equipment operated satisfactorily.

PI: The bombs fell short of and partially on the South RR Station and Goods Depot. There was one hit and a close hit on the roofless portion of the Transhipment Shed, and 6 hits on the RR tracks by the Rail-overproad Bridge. The remaining bombs fell in fields adjacent to the tracks on the West. The MPI of the pattern was approximately 4150' left and 2000' S of the 1st priority target.

100B- PI: The bombs fell in fields 7500' left of and 6000' over the 2nd priority target.

100C- After the turn on the IP, the RN took over and by H2X technique he proceeded to set up course on a true heading of 074 degrees. The bombardier was clutched in at 11 miles and rate checks of 10, 9 and 8 miles were made. After the 8 miles check, the bombardier was able to pick up the 1st priority target visually and made a 40 degree course correction to the right. With 80 seconds to the BRL, the bombardier proceeded to make course and rate corrections. Because of insufficient time, a bubble level was not possible and to compensate for this error the bombardier displaced the cross hairs. H2X equipment operated satisfactority.

PI: There were about 5 hits on the tracks West (short) of the diverging lines at the entrance to the Sorting Sidings, 5-7 on the tracks leading into the M/Y from the SE and adjacent to the rail-over-road bridge on thr SW side, and 3 on the West end to the Reception Sadings. The remaining bombs fell just over the MPI in woods and on the RR embank-

100D-PI: The bombs fell on the right portion of C's pattern, and some of the bursts are smoke obscured. There were 6 hits near the diverging lines at the entrance to the Sorting Sidings and about 10 on the extreme South (left) portion of the M/Y.

Photographs taken by 95A show three separate fires from goods wagons in the Sorting Sidings, and 1 crater in the Rail-Over-Raid Rail Bridge. This damage was done by 1000 and D.

Losses: One. A/C 636.

Failures: One. A/C 865. Electrical failure.

mavigation: The course was flown essentially as briefed to the pre-IP. At this point contrails forced the Broups to make wide turns in order to peel off in Squadron formation. Bombing altitude (25,000°) which was raised to clear the cirrus clouds, was reached at the IP. The route to the base was flown essentially as briefed except that 13C, which was echeloned left of 15A and 15B and was 6-12 miles left of course from CP 2 to the Continental Coast.

..eather: In target area a 10/10 strato-cumulus layer prevailed at 8,000'.

Bombing: 100A- Due to existing weather conditions, the entire 100 Group flew higher than the briefed altitude on the bomb run.

After the turn on the IP, the RM identified the target in the scope at 26 miles and began to set up course by F2M technique, initiating the attack on a true heading of 299 degrees. he bombardier was clutched in at 11 miles. Subsequent rate checks of 9, 7, 6, and 5 miles were completed, all of which were good.

7 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13th UBW (Excerpts) 13P- 100A, B, C, D Squadrons Target: Buchen, Germany. 1/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF. avigation: The briefed route was flown essentially as briefed by 13A, B and C to their respective IP's. 13A and B started th ir runs on the 1st priority target in Group formation, because of enemy fighters in the area. 13% was unable to release on the 1st Friority target because of a cloud over the PI, and went on to attack the 2nd Priority target. However, 133 was able to attack the 1st Priority target. After bombs away 13/made a 360 degree turn in order to gain altitude for the Riel Canal Flat Corridor which was to be crossed at 21000'. Consequently, 15A was behind 18B on the return route.

Neather: In the targe area there ere 3-4/10 strato-cumulus below 6000' and 3-5/10 cirrus above 25000'.

Bombing: 100A, B, C, D Squadrons: After the maneuver at the IP, the attack was initiated on a true heading of 014 degrees. ecause 3/10 undercast conditions prevented the bombardier from picking up the target, he proceeded on the run by pin-point pilotage. Bynchronization for rate and course was accomplished on check points short of the target area on the approach to the BRL. Pecause a cloud covered the PI, the bombardiers positioned the crosshairs on the cloud, using check points outside the target and released the bombs. The II assisted with course and the b mbardier also used the grid method of bombing on the run. Bombardiers in 1903, 3 and D did not sight for rate. To obtain close from forms ion on the bomb run, 1000 flew above the briefed altitude 1000'.

FT: No bursts from any bombs dropped are visible. According to computations based on bomb trajectory tables, the bombs probably fell in the approximate positions:

100A- It is impossible to employ the bomb trajectory tables to determine the boubfall of this equadron, since the first pictures are cloudobscured. According to the position of the smoke borbs in the last picture taken, the pattern would probably rea fall I miles short in fields and on the railroad tracks running 3D from the tarjet.

1998- lywiles short and I mile right in fields, a river, and on railroad tracks running II from the target.

1000- 1, miles short in fields and woods.

100D- 1; to IEM 1 5/4 miles short in fields and woods.

Losses: Two, both lost due to D/A. A/C 514 and A/C 071.

Failures: Two.

Attacks on this Group began at 1253 at 5234-0950E, just after the IP. Attacks were made by ten to fifteen E/A. The attacking A/C were mostly IE 109's, but a few FW-190's and E 262's were sighted. There was no definite pattern to the attacks made by the \mathbb{E}/\mathbb{A} . The attacks were varied and came from all the clock positions except the 12 O'clock position. Both pursuit and fly through attacks were employed against the bombers. The first attack was made by one ME-109 from two o'clock high. This was a strafing attack on the high squadron. The E/A continued down through the formation and into cloud cover. Gunners opened fire at maximum range and destroyed this A/C. Four pursuit curve attacks beginning at nine o'clock, continuing to six o'clock and followed by a breakaway to three o'clock were made. RE-109's and FW-190's pressed this attack to within 100 yards of the bombers and came in in trail. After breakaway they renewed their attack from the three o'clock position. Several attacks from the six o'clock position followed and the E/A broke away down into clouds. One NE-262 was observed to pass back and forth across the bomber formation. This B/A was a decoy and did not attack the bombers. II attacking /1 made excellent use of cloud cover which was approximately 1500 feet below the bomber formations. One 11-109 be an attack from seven o'clock level. unners began firing at 300 yards and tracked him all the way in. The B/A collided with number five aircraft in the high squadron.

8 April 1:45 Tactical Report from 13 CBM (Excerpts). 133-100A, 3, 0, D Squadrons. Target: Tger, Czechoslavakia. 1/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF. Navigation: Bombing altitude was reached 60 minutes prior to the IP. The peel off was made at the IP by 13A and 13C by Squadrons. However, 13B made the run in Group formation, because of enemy \mathbb{A}/\mathbb{C} in the area. "cather: in the target area there were 2-3/10 strato-cumulus below 5000! with 3-4/10 cirrus above 20000'. Dombing: 1001, 3, C, D; Tecause of the prosence of enemy aircraft, bombing was accomplished in Group Formation. 1003, C and D boobed in formation with 100A. 100D was the only squadron that released on its own rate. After the turn at the IF, the bombardier took over and initiated the attack on a true heading of 060 degrees. The bombardier proceeded with pinpoint bilotage and killed rate and course on check points short of the target area on the approach to the IRL. 12 miles from the BRL the bombardier was only able to mich up the edge of the town, which was just short if the issigned IPI, as a cloud covered the target. he positioned the crosshairs on the cloud covering the TT, using check points outside the target and not until 5 miles from the BRL was he able to identify the susigned IPT. note from proceding Equadrons made synchronization nore difficult. It books may, synchronization appeared to be good. 3 mils of trail were subtracted to center bomb puttern in the .FI.

FI: 1004- he bursts are misible, but recording to computations based on bomb trajectory tablesm, the bolbs fell on the assi med TI.

0 ...pril 1045 Tactical Report from 13 Jan (Excer ts) 13A- 1001, 7, 0, D Squadrens.

Lavigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the IP. Priefed altitude was not reached because of a shelf of cirrus clouds above 230001. The bombing altitude which was used was reached 52 minutes prior to the IP. The seel off by squadrons was made at the IP for individual runs on the first priority target.

leather: In the tarjet area there were 6-8/10 cirrus at 200001.

Bombing: 100A- After the maneuver at the IF, the bombardier took over and began the attack on a true heading of 300 degrees. Innediately after the turn, the 1st priority target was identified. The bombardier clutched in at 70 degrees and completed a normal sighting operation. Synchronization at bombs array was poor.

Bombardiers in 131 added 5 mils for the Mavy type bomb. PI: The bombs fell on the L/F 1200' to 2500' short of the assigned FI. The incendiary bombs fell to the right of the IP pattern.

100B- The bombs fell on the L/F 200' to 1800' from the assigned IPI.

1000- 15 miles from the BRL, the bombardier identified the assigned . I and completed a normal sighting operation. Prop washwas experienced during the run which caused a temporary tumbled gyro. However, synchronization was good at bombs away.

PI: The bombs fell on and slightly right of the assigned PI. Damage was inflicted to the remaining portion of the previously camaged small han ar directly right of the IPI, and to the previously damaged large hengar. A small building behind the bangars was left burning. The incendiary bombs covered the GP pattern.

100D- PI- The bombs fell approximately 1200' right and 1600' short of the assigned PI in an area containing open dispersal bays. Nine A/C were either damaged or destroyed. The incendiary bombs covered the GP pattern, and left the Administration and Reception salls burning.

Losses: None.

10 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13 CBW (Excerpts) 13C- 100A, B, C, D Sqadrons Target: Burg, Germany. A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF. Havigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the cre-IP, with the exception of "S"ing in order to maintain the proper interval in the Division column. Bombing altitude was reached 16 minutes prior to the IP. 13C over shot the IP by seven miles because 95D made a wide turn. after bombs away, the Wing was not reassembled at the RP. Decause of interference from Task Force I, which did not guide right at 1200E, 13A was forced to continue on its heading off the target and then make a wide left turn to the RP. Enroute to the base 13A was unable to follow the briefed flight plan, because it was boxed in by two unudentified groups. Consequently, 95A and 13C passed 13A. 13C, during this maneuver, went ahead of 13B and became the Wing Leader. Weather: In the target area there were 4-6/10 patchy cirrus above 25000'. Bombing: 100A- Initiating the attack on a true hearing of 180 degrees, the bombardier identified the target area at 17 miles. The IPI, however, could not be seen due to smoke from the previous bombs. Using outside checks points, the bombardier synchronized short and placed his cross hairs on the approximate location of the LPI. Synchronization at time of bomb release was good. PI: Approximately 10 bursts are visible-thru a small break in the smoke- on or beside the assigned hangar. According to H2X photo interpretation, the bombfall was approximately 1320' W of the MPI. 100B- Approximately 7 bombs are visible, and these appeared on the A/F between the NE/S. runway and the hangar area, approximately 2750' (NE) left and short of the assigned 'PI. Pictures taken by 1000 show the incendiary pattern of either 100A or 100B or both. This begins at the center portion of the NE/SU runway and extends across the center portion of the hangar area, covering probably, the center portion of the GP patterns. According to H2X photo interpretation, the bombfall was approximately 1760' NW of the IPI. 100C- After the turn on the IP, the bombardier began the attack on a true heading of 139 degrees. The target area was identified approximately 10 miles from the BRL, thexth but the PI was obscured by smoke from previous bombs. By using the hot plate and reference oints outside the smoked up area the bombardier was able to position the LPI and synchronized. PI: Approximately 20 bombs are visible bursting left of the assigned Repair Hangar on and adjacent to another large Hangar, and two or three on the Repair mangar itself. Smoke over the area prevents precise interpretation. According to H2X photo interpretation, the bombfall was approximately 2640' NE of the MPI. 100D- PI: Falling in a loose pattern indicative of late releases, bombs extended from SN corner of L/F, app. 1000' right of IPI to a point about 3000' beyond.

- 1. 12-262's and F. 19190's were encountered by bomber formations prior to the IP. P-51 fighter escort intercepted the I/A and prevented mass attacks except for one Company Front attack.
- 2. 130- 100 Domb Group- Ten IM-262's were sighted climbing to intercept this froup as they neared the IP at 5248-1057E. Ball turnet gumners reported these E/A as possibly from two airfields located 5248-1057E. Fighter escort for this Group had appearently been drawn off to engage E/A Ettacking 13A. This Group was under attack approximately twelve minutesthe first attack at 1443. Four 121-262's, in Company Front formation began an attack on a straggler to the rear of B Squadron. Passing under straggler, E/4 continued attack on D Squadron. Tits were scored on two of the E/A. The next attack was by six 'E-262's coming in from six o'clock in trail. The first E/A broke away to the left and made a fly through attack on C Equadron. The second E/A was destroyed as he broke away toward nine o'clock. The third and fourth E/A broke away early in the attack. The fifth NE-262 started the attack from six o'clock level, coming in to about 200 yards breaking away down and to the right. The last E/A of this attack came in to 100 yards. Jumners reported cannon fire from this E/A. Two ME-262's began a coordinated attack from five and seven o'clock on B Squadron, In this attack one E/A was destroyed and one B-17 was lost.

11 April 1945

Tactical Report from 13th CBW (Excerpts)

13A- 100A, B, C, D Squadrons

Target: Landshut, Germany.

A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF.

Mavigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the IP. Bombing altitude was reached 20 minutes prior to the IP. 13A made the IP good. 100B was unable to release its bombs on the 1st priority target. The RP was overrun by 13A to allow its Squadrons to reassemble and to allow the Jing to be reassembled. 100B attacked the 2nd priority target with the other Squadrons echeloned to the right. 13A was reassembled shortly after bombs away.

Weather: Over the target there were nil clouds with downward visibility 20-30 miles.

Bombing: 100A- Initiating the attack on a true heading of 070 degrees, the bombardier pinpointed himself down the bomb run and picked up the target at 15 miles. The assigned PI was picked up in the sight 7 miles from the BRL and a normal sighting operation was completed. Synchronization at the BRL was excellent.

PI: The bombs fell on the assigned MPI. Of the ten small buildings, each measuring 140'L x 40' W, six received one or more direct hits. Two large buildings, each 210'L x 70'W, received three close hits, and probably suffered some blast damage. Incendiary bombs covered 3/4 of the small residential area 1000' left of the assigned 1PI and extended across the target area.

100B- In taking interval the AL lost sight of 100A and overshot the IP some 9 miles. After the proper heading to the target was taken up, utter confusion reigned in the nose of the lead aircraft. The navigator's oxygen hose disconnected and in going back to connect it, took the bombardier's target folder. The bombardier meanwhile was relying on the navigator to locate the target for him. In the ensuing confusion the bombardier was unable to locate the target until it was too late to make a run. It was then decided to bomb the 2nd priority target. The target was identified at 15 miles but the assigned MPI was obscured by smoke from previous Group's bombing. The bombardier selected an AP to the left of the assigned PI and completed a normal sighting operation. Synchronization at the BRL was good.

PI: The bombs fell on and short of the selected AP, which was approximately 2400' bouth (left) of the assigned PI. The main concentration of bombs was short of the M/Y. There were app. 25 hits on tracks near the South choke point. Smoke over the target prevents a detailed analysis. According to H2M scope photo interpretation the bombfall was app. 2800' NW of the MPI. Altitude was 17,000'.

100C- PI: The bombs fell in the smoke over the target. Fresh bursts indicate that the main impact of the bombs was centered on the ten small buildings.

100D- PI: The bombs fell in the residential area adjacent to the target on the West (left), on the railroad tracks leading North, and across the buildings in the target area. Two large buildings, 210'L x 70'W, and at least three of the small ones, 140'L x 40'W, received direct hits. The incendiaries covered the GP pattern. Photographs taken later by a Group in another Wing show that both large ordnance buildings are on fire and burning freely inside and out.

Losses: None.

Failures: Cne. 4 engine failure.

Tactical Report from 13th CBW (Excerpts)

13A-100A, B, C, D Squadrons.

Target: Royan, France.

A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 PFF.

Itwigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the IP, except for climb, which was started 16 minutes earlier than briefed. A wind shift and low scud layer encountered enroute made it necessary for 13A Leader to start climb to bombing altitude earlier than specified in flight plan. Because of dense and persistent contrails at 21000'-22000', the Wing Leader was forced to level off at app. 20000', which was reached prior to the pre-IP. The fanout by squadrons was made at the pre-IP. The IP was made good.

Weather: In the target area there were no low or medium clouds.

Pombing: 100A- Lead bombardiers in XXX 13A added 5 mils of trail to center bomb pattern on the MPI.

The bombardier initiated the attack on a true heading of 328 degrees. The target area was picked up immediately after the turn at the IP. 10 miles from the BRL the bombardier identified the assigned PI and completed a normal sighting operation. Synchronization at bombs away was good.

PI: There was one hit and 4-6 close hits on the two visible emplacements. 2-3 bombs fell about 900' beyond the main pattern.

100B- PI: There were several close hits on the mix two visible emplacements. Most of the bombs fell short of the assigned MPI.

1000- PI: There were several close but no direct hits on the two visible gun emplacements. The bombs from two A/C were close to and on the assigned IPI, while the remaining fiell to the left.

100D- PI: The bombs fell on and around the assigned PI. It was impossible to determine whether there were any gun emplacements or not because of the scale of the photographs.

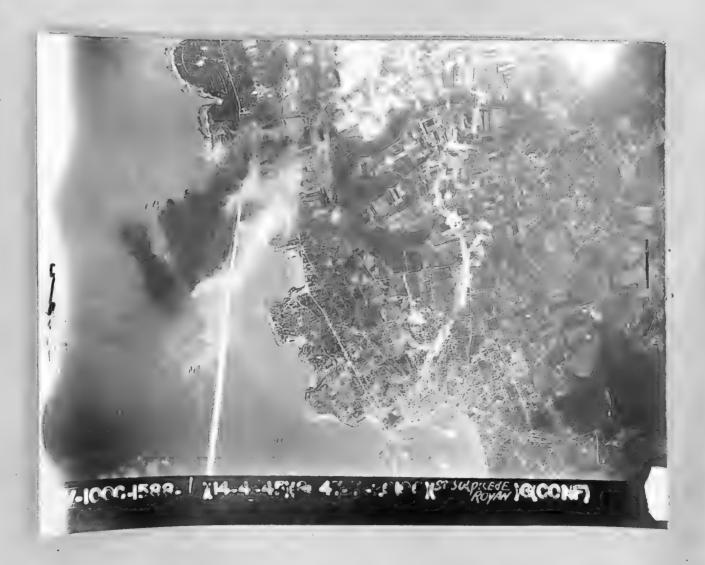

Losses: None.

Failures: None.

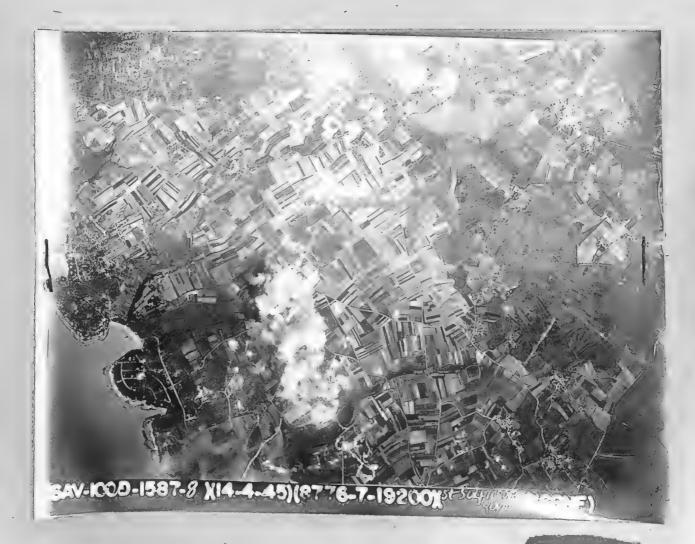

15 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13th CBW (Excerpts) 13C-100A, B, C, D Squadrons. Target: Royan, France A/C Airborne: 34 plus 4 avigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed except for slight "S"ing along route in order to maintain interval in bomber stream. To avoid interference with Troups ahead, which were to the right, a wide sweeping turn to the left of the briefed IP was made. This made it necessary to make a SE approach on to the IP which was made good. Bombing altitude was reached approximately 20 minutes prior to the IP. Weather: CAVU conditions prevailed in the target area. Bombing: 100A- After the turn at the IP the bombardier picked up the target area at 30 miles. The IPI, however, was completely obscured by smoke. The bombardier proceeded with synchronization but shortly before the BRL the target became so obliterated that the bombardier was forced to shift his AP to a 2nd priority target. A normal sighting operation was completed and at bombs away synchronization appeared to be fair. PI: The BRL was approximately 5000' beyond and 3700' left of the assigned PI. There are 7 visible bursts in the ocean and app. 7 on land near the Fort de Royan. B's photographs show blac's smoke arising from the bombs in the Fort de Royan area. The amount of smoke here and the arountxofxxxxxxxx bombs visible in A's pictures indicate that A's bombs all probably fell in this area 9000' NW (beyond) the assigned IPI. 100B- The BRL was approximately the same as that for 100A, so it is reasonable to assume that the bolbs probably fell in the Fort de Royan area. There are 7 bom's visible in the ocean beside the Fort, 2 more in the Fort de Royan area in the water, and 8 farther out in the ocean. C's photographs show an increase in the amount of fresh streamers of black smoke in the Fort de Royan area, indicative, undoubtedly, of a portion of B's bombfall. 10000 The BRL was app. 1500' short of the assigned IPI. No bursts are visible. According to the trajectory of the bombs, however, they should burst in close proximity to the MPI. 100D- PI: The BRL was app. 4500' beyond the assigned PPI. According to the trajectory of the bombs, they should burst in close proximity to this point, which is in fields. Smoke over the area obscures the bursts. Losses: None. Failures: XXXX. Three.

16 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13th CBW (Excerpts) 13B- 100A, B, C, D Smedrons. Target: Point de Grave- Near Royan, France. A/C Airborne: 54 plus 4 PFF. Navigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the IP. Bombing altitude was reached 30 minutes prior to the IP. This point was overrun by 13B because 390C did not turn over the IP. Weather: In the target area there wer nil low or middle clouds with 2-5/10 patchy cirrus above an estimated 25000'. Bombing: As a result of improper briefing, all lead bombardiers in 13B synchronized on selected AP's in the 1st priority target area. 10 A- he bombardier identified the target area at 17 miles from the BRL. The bombardier picked up his selected AP and proceeded to synchronize. The 3-1 auto-pilot was too sluggish in taking out course co rections, consequently the run was completed on FDI. A normal sighting operation was completed and at bombs away synchronization appeared to be good. all lead bombardiers in 13B added 5 mils of trail to the center patterns on the AP's. PI: The bombs fell in fields 2300° right and beyond what was probably intended to be the assigned PI, 2650' right of the grid-coordinates PI, and on the selected AP. There wer app. 4 hits on the tank trench, and picture taken by 95C show the trench and mound destroyed at this point. 100B- PI: The bombs fell in fields app. 5870' left of and beyond what was probably intended to be the assigned IPI, 5370' left and beyond the grid coordinates PI, and on the selected AP. 1000- PI: The bombs fell in fields and on a road app. 4 3/4 miles left of which was intended to be the assigned IPI, but on the selected AP. According to W2% scope-photo interpretation, the bomb fall was app. 5 1/8 miles S of the PI. 15 100D- PI: The bombs fell in the same loca ionas 3.03, app. 7480' left of what was probably intended to be the assigned PI, 7200' left of the grid coordinates 1PI, and on the selected AP. Mavigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the IP. The fanout by squadrons was made 2 minutes prior to the IP, which was overshot 2 miles in order to clear the Brux flat, 100A was unable to release on the first run and completed a 360 degree turn to the IP on a second run. 13A was still unable to release and made another 360 degree turn for a third run. .eather: Over the target there were nil low clouds or middle clouds with 9-10/10 cirrus at 19500'. Bombing: As a result of existing weather conditions, Squadrons in 13A were forced to fly lower than briefed altitudes on the bomb run. . leather, also, restricted visibility considerably on the bomb run. 100A- Because of existing weather the bombardier was forced to make three runs on the target in order to identify the assigned IPI visually. On the third run, which was initiated on a true heading of 323 degrees, the bombardier picked up the target area 8 miles from the BRL. 20 seconds to bambs away he identified the assigned IPI and began to synchronize. At bombs away, synchronization was good. PI: The bombs fell short and right of the assigned MPI, and there were only between 12-15 bombs on the M/Y, about 8 of which were on the new reception sidings. $100B- PI: The bombs fell in an irregular pattern right of the assigned :PI. There were app. 10 hits in the new reception sidings, 20 on and close to mbods depots, and 2 on the tracks leading out of the shunting sidings. About 5 bombs fell beyond the M/Y in a factory area. Haze over the target prevents a detailed analysis of damage. (The bomb pattern measurements excludes about 20 stray bombs). According to H2M photo-interpretation the bombfall was app. 800' MW of the 'PI. 1000- PI: Smoke from preceding bursts obscures a portion of the pattern. App. 12 bombs are visible on and just short of the PI. A heavy concentration of about 50 bombs are visible short of the /Y in fields. The pattern probably extended across the new recention sidings. 18 April 1945

Tactical Report from 13th CBW

130-100A, B, C Squadrons

A/C Airborne: 26 plus 3 P.F.

Target: Straubing, Germany

Mayigation: The route was followed as briefed to the Continental Coast. From the coast in point, the Ming drifted slightly South of course until it was 15 miles South at CP 3. A correction was made to course at this point and the briefed route followed to the IP For the 2nd priority target. Dombing altitude was reached 30 minutes prior to the IP. 1008 was unable to release on the first run and made a second run.

Meather: Over t'e target there were 6-8/10 swelling cumulus tops 10-12000', occasionally 16-18000' and 5-7/10 cirrus above 25000'.

Bombing: 100A- The RN identified the target at 36 miles. After the IP maneuver, the RN took over and proceeded to set up course, initiating the run on a true heading of 255 degrees. The bombardier was clutched in at 9 miles and rate checks of 8 and 7 miles were made. After the 7 miles check, the bombardier was able to pick up the target visually and placed the crosshairs on what he believed was the 'PI. Because of weather conditions this was all the visual assistance possible.

100B-The RM proceeded to set up course by M2X technique. The bombard er was clutched in at 9 miles and rate checks of 8 and 7 miles were made. Shortly before bombs away, the bombardier was able to make visual adjustments. Prop wash unlevelled the gyro a few seconds from the Fil, which the bombardier relevelled immediately. Traffic interference was experienced on the bomb rum from Groups of B-24's bombing a target in the vicinity of the 2nd priority.

C-1 auto pilot became inoperative on the bomb run, and the run was completed on PDI. All bombardiers in 13C added 8 to 9 mile of trail to center the bomb pattern on the MPI.

PI: App. 8-10 bombs fell on the T/Y around the assigned PI. The remaining covered a factory area adjacent to the I/Y on the South. In explosion occurred in the building that C Squadron had previously left burning.

1000- PI: The IPI of the pattern was app. 1000' short of the assigned PI. A heavy concentration of bombs fell on the center of the 1/Y. Two bombs fell among Goods Magons in the sidings near the PI, and one bomb fell on a factory building. Smoke over the /Y prevents any PI assessment of danage inflicted on the tracks, but all of them are undoubtedly cut in several places. According to H2K photo-interpretation, bombfall was app. 1300' SW of the PI. C Sqdn. achieved 100% within 1000' feet of .PI. Alt: 25000'. Losses and Failures: Hone.

20 April 1945 Tactical Report from 13th CBW (Excerpts) 13B- 100 A, B, C Squadrons. Target: Oranienburg, Germany. A/C Airborne: 26 plus 3 PFF. Havigation: The route was flown essentially as briefed to the pre-IP. Bombing altitude was reached 57 minutes prior to the IP. At the pre-IP 100B hit prop wash and lost 1000' in altitude, forcing 1000 to lose 500'. Because of the difference in altitude, 390A was overrunning 100C. The lead pilot of 100C decided to clear the squadron from the open bomb bay doors of 390A and completed a 360 degree turn to the right, cutting the IP short 22 miles, on a second run to the 1st priority target. Weather: In the target area there were 1-3/10 alto-cumulus at 1200 : and 1-3/10 cirrus above 24000'. Bombing: 100A- After the IP maneuver the RM proceeded to assist the bombardier in setting up course, which was initiated ona true heading of 180 degrees. The bombardier observed that the IPI had been pock marked by bombs and selected an AP left of the assigned IPI. A normal sighting operation was completed and at bombs away synchronization was good, PI: The bombs fell on the 1/Y app. 1000' left of the assigned 1PI. There were app. 12 hits on tracks and junctions in the S end of the M/Y, 3 bursts in the factory area to the S of the IPI, 8-10 bursts in the factory area to the SE, and 2 bursts on a double track line just beyond the junction. Pictures taken by 1000 show at least 12 craters on the tracks, one building adjacent to the M/Y on fire, and derailed goods wagons. 100B- PI: The bombs fell short and partially on the I/Y at the assigned PI. Photographs taken by 1000 show at least 10 craters on the thru tracks and the sidings. At least 20 goods wagons were destroyed or damaged. 100C- PI: The bombs fell app. 1800' left and short of the assigned PI. There was no damage inflicted on the target. Losses: None. Failures: One.

HEADQUARTERS AAF STATION 139 APO # 559

10 May 1945

SUBJECT: Historical Data, Station S-4, Section, APRIL 1945.

Commanding Officer, 100th Bombardment Group (H), APO 559, Attn: Ground Executive.

1. A meeting was held by A-4 of 3rd Air Fivision on April 16, 1945, attended by S-4 officer. of all Bomber and Fighter stations in the Division. The two main problems covered in length at this meeting conducted by Lt. Col. Fairman were the problem of re-deployment after V-E day and the transfer of property to the newly activated units of the Air Service Group by the disbanded units absorbed in the reorganization

As a preliminary step to re-deployment it was announced that a complete physical inventory of all T/E, T/BA and OEL equipment would be made on each station. This inventory would be very exacting and would cover even a shortage of all tools within a kit. Sample sopies of the inventory sheets, which would be distributed to the stations at a later date, were passed out and considerable time was spent in going over the correct manner of filling them out.

A program of maintenance and conservancy of automotive equipment on the stations was discussed by the Division Auto Maintenance Officer. It was suggested that a certain percentage of the vehicles in each motor pool be placed in dead storage so that they would be in first class shape for re-deployment. It was emphasized that all vehicles if they would run would be taken with the units upon movement.

These points were brought to the attention of the station motor pool officers who had already initiated a program of maintenance to get all vehicles in first class shape.

2. Work was immediately started on the transfer of property to the new Air Service Group. Each of the Squadron Supply Officers was instructed on how to set up their new property books and the disbanded organizations were given instructions on the property to be shipped to each of the newly activated units and that which was overage was shipped to the Station Supply Agency. A teletype from 3rd Air Division gave instructions that all vehicles which would become overage under the new re-organization would be carried by the Materiel Squadron of the Air Service Group.

This transfer has been affected with a minimum of physical movement of property and has been conducted in a very efficient manner by all the organizations concerned.

3. Preliminary instructions were given to all squadron supply and squadron Tech supply Officers as to the manner in which the inventory of all property would be handled and it was suggested that inventory of their Air Corps Kits be started immediately so that they would have sufficient time to complete the inventory forms when they arrive on the station. A tentative deadline of the 15th of May, the actual day of the inventory, was given for the completion of the forms and submission to Station S-4 for consolidation.

4. Instructions were received from high headquarters that all impregnated clothing, except that of Chemicall Co AO, would be turned back to Quartermaster Depots. This clothing had been held as stock in Station Chemical Wharehouse. The breaking down according to sizes and bundling was handled, by Station, Quartermaster.

SUBJECT: Resume of Station Chemical Warfare Activities.

TO:

Commanding Officer, AAF Station #139, APO #559.

ATTENTION: Group Historian

1. Following is a resume of Station Chemical Warfare Activities for the period 15 April 1945 to 15 May 1945:

Chemical Warfare classes were held for all new Combat Crews that arrived on the Station during this period.

A schedule was set up for a seven hour course for Bombardiers. This course will include all phases of Chemical Warfare.

In compliance with letter, Hdq's., 8th AF, dtd. 10 April 1945, subject; Protective Clothing, all impregnated clothing on the Station have been turned over to the StationQuartermaster. All clothing was tested for the degree of impregnation and found to be satisfactory. Personnel of the Chemical Section helped the QM to sort by size, tie up, and ship the clothing.

Three of the power driven Decontamination Apparatuses assigned to this Section have been turned over to the Motor Pool for their control. The remaining two apparatuses are being used by this Section; one is held in reserve for crash and fire emergencies, the other is used to fill the drinking water trailers and Lister bags dispersed around the Station.

All Gas Defense Installations such as Gas Alarm Rattles and Bells, Detector

Plates, Gas Casualty Chests, Gas Cleansing Centers have been removed.

The Chemical Section is operating on a skeleton schedule with a minimum amount of personnel. The majority of the personnel are being used in the Information and Education Section and in the future, unless there is some Chemical Warfare Activity of importance, no resume of activities will be submitted.

TO: Commanding Officer, AAF Station 139, APO 559.

1. The month of April 1945 saw a further reduction in the strength of the 28th Station Complement Squadron. Eight men were transferred to the Infantry and two men were transferred to other organizations on this field.

This brought the squadron down to T/O strength.

2. On 15 April an 8th Air Force Ganeral Order disbanded the 28th Station Complement Squadron. Personnel of the squadron were absorbed in the Headquarters, 412th Base Service Squadron and the 838th Air Engineering Squadron of the 412th Air Service Group. The 28th Station Complement Squadron has been in existence for approximately 23 months and has accomplished its mission.

SUBJECT: History of Weather Station for April, 1945

TO : Base Historian, USAAF Station 139, APO 559, U. S. Army.

- 1. This month a series of weather squadron exams were given on the 13th and 14th to all the observers in our detachment. The exams covered teletype procedure, meteorology, and plotting of all codes used in weather from those classified as secret to those internationally known. The results of these tests are not known as yet.
- 2. There were several furloughs and leaves during the month. Sgt. Beacom visited London and Doncaster; Sgt. Bennett was with his family in Kettering and also went to Belfast; Sgt. Harris was in London and Edinburgh; and at the present date Lt. Orenstein is on his way to London and Inverness.

Ellis D. Pike. ELLIS D. PIKE

1st Lt., Air Corps Station Weather Officer.

A/C 636 was last seen just past Liege on the route back from the target. Formation split up going through clouds. There appeared to be nothing wrong with the A/C. Filot should have had about 800 gallons of gasoline for the remainder of the route home. Nothing was seen of or heard from this A/C after it went into the clouds.

A/C 992 was unable to release bombs aftered over target and retained them until formation reached 5417-0808E on C O N F I D E N T I A L return route. Bombs were then jettisoned. The A/C appeared to be undamaged and continued on with the formation to 5405-0620E at 1850 hours when whoels were lowered and pilot called over VHF saying he was low on gas and would try to get back alone. The A/C peeled off and down toward the undercast. Then the formation reached 5250-0300E at 1952 hours, a vhf message from undercast. Then the formation reached 5250-0300E at 1952 hours, a vhf message from 292 was received saying that 80 gallons of fuel per engine was left and the A/C was an estimated 15 minutes from land. Nothing further was heard. Other pilots suggest that cloud conditions were favorable for icing and that the A/C may have been lost due to cloud picked up in passing through clouds.

A/C 334 was attacked by an IM 109. The M3 engine caught fire and the pilot peeled out of formation to the left and feathered m3 prop. The fire went out in engine, but the call well was blazing fiercely. The bombs were salved and the A/C and the A/C. of formation to the left and feathered poppon. The fire went out in engine, but the wheel well was blazing fiercely. The bombs were salvoed, and the A/C completed an 180 degree turn and headed back alone. It was last seen under control diving into a cloud bank. There were 40-50 enemy fighters in the vicinity.

351ST BOYDARDING SQUADRON DIARY FOR APRIL, 1945

April, 1945, saw the 351st witnessing the rapidly accelerating collapse of Germany. The Russians during this month finally got into Berlin itself. Our own forces went tearing their way across the Reich. Wrinkles began to show themselves in AAF officers brows as they pendered as to what targets there would be left to attack. The bomb line so vital to the Safety of Allied troops was just about eliminated, and the Air Force found that it could be of assistance in other ways. Russians and Americans after their long and violent pushes joined hands near the end of the month at Torgau.

This wholo picture became overcast, however, for on the 12th of April, President Roosevelt passed away. He left America with a firm grip on the future, and the news of his passing, tremendous and shocking as it was, found our unit just as active and alcrt as it had over been, perhaps more so for the manner in which he left us was the greatest example of personal sacrifice that one man has ever shown for the benefit of his fellow men.

Late in the month of April an unconditional surrender offer was made to the United States and Great Britain, which emitted Russia, and was, therefore, not acceptable to the Allies. It did serve as food for a good deal of speculation as to when the end would come and how; it also acted as a spur to the many rumors. The outfit would be packed by May 17th. We would probably be here for six months. Rumor had it that we were going home and others thought it would be broken up. April ended and there was no radical change in the Squadrons ground operation,

During the month of April, the 351st Squadron loaded a total of 368 tons of bombs for the missions flown and scrubbed. Of the total, 290 tons were loaded for missions flown in combat and 78 tons were loaded for missions scrubbed. Near the close of April, the Air Force devised something new in the way of a load. After temporary modification of the bomb bays in nine of our ships, approximately 28,350 pounds of rations were loaded for the hunger stricken people of Holland. The month ended with an unsuccessful attempt to deliver these goods to the ones who needed them. Weather closed in to such an extent as to make it impossible to drop this load successfully.

Missions for the month of April, 1945, put the final seal on the package for Germany. The Army Air Force destroyed the last hope for any Mazi to hold out for very long, regardless of how fanatical he might be. Their ground defenses, airfields, sub-pens and marshalling yards were blasted beyond identification and sapped from the Roich was any shred of remaining reserve strength it might be withholding. The total number of objectives bombed by the 35lct Squadron as a part of larger units was sixteen during April. On the 3rd and 4th, units hit submarine yards at Riel, the 5th of the month marshalling yards

It tried to climb back into formation when two Me262's - jet propelled fighters—began pressing an attack. Aircraft number 963 was hit in the right wing and a large piece flow off. Then number 3 and number 4 engines burst into flames and it peeled off low to the right. As it went down, the flames were larger and it was believed to have hit the ground with a terrific explosion. No parachutes were seen coming from the craft before it hit. This occurred at approximately 5239M - 1123E at approximately, 1149 hours on the 10th. The foregoing report is taken from consolidated eye-witness accounts filed at S-2.

May, and plans went forward to break in air crews on the duties of ground crews in Ordnance, Armament, Communications and Engineering. Arrangements were also being made to split ground crews up into sections for the Information and Iducation program contemplated after V-Day. There was every indication that restrictions and regulations would be tightened up, and many forms of additional activity were planned to keep officers and men from going stale after the end has been accomplished.

A trickle of former Prisoners of War which showed an indication of increasing in size began to show itself in the outfit. Among those returning to the Squadron from Prisoner of War camps in Germany was Licutenant A. Edwin Stern, Jr., who was shot down over Germany on the 24th of May, 1914, on his 13th mission. He was captured at Parcham, northwest of Berlin, and sent to a Luftwaffe base. He was held there for transportation to pulag Luft for two days. Upon arriving at pulag Luft he was put in solitary confinement for a day in an effort by the enemy to break him down for interrogation. He received very little food, that which he was given consisted of a small piece of bread and a bowl of soup. From this point he was transferred to Stalag Luft #3 at Sagan, Germany, a permanent prisoner of war camp which he described as having fairly decent living conditions.

There was a theatre, reading and reference libraries, and classes in Spanish and German to keep the men occupied. Colonel Darr H. Alkire, an American officer, was in charge of these efforts and Lieutenant Stern said that things ran as smoothly as they possibly could have under the conditions.

Things continued to run smoothly until January 27, 1945, when the officers were ordered to Spremberg, a distance of 120 kilometres. It was a forced March and Lieutenant Stern said 22 degrees below zero, men dying along the way, there was no consideration whatsoever for the weak ones, there was nothing but horror for those that kept on going. The party was confined at the Stalag Luft at Murnborg on February 6th, 1945, and this, Lieutenant Stern described as un-been, they had to turn to tending down parts of their building in the secure ited for heat and wouth. The lift flad Greek trails from Secure brought food parcels and a little relief from this situation was obtained, but the Cerum ration which fermioned about 1116 colories was nowhere now sufficient to a latein reasonable subsistance. Siemens and general debility because the order, will on wril 17, 1965, the little is lated, A5th wish a of the 7th made his very back through the Aperican lines and was finally returned to the 351st a univers, where he is now filling temporary duties until ordered home.

SQUADRON HISTORY

For in this month stood alone from the procession of months and held within its solitary circle the most glorious, most tragic, most moving events ever recorded in the history of modern man. Had Caesar, Hannibal, and the Empire of the Romans fallen away within a month no greater change could have come to the world than came to it with April, 1945. These were the days that marked the passing of an era. This wask the the full fruition of the years before.

For the first two days of the month the ships did not fly but on the third they took off for Kiel and the great German shipyards. The mission encountered light and inaccurate flak, no fighter opposition and all returneds afely. To complete their task they flew to Kiel again on the following day. On the fifth however to aid the third army in southern Germany they flew to Nuremberg and returned without insident. However, the crew cpatained by Lieutenant George S Fowler was forced down on the other side and did not return until the following day. On this day the promotion for Lieutenant James A. Plough was received and he replaced his gold bars with silver ones.

On the sixth the ships flew still further east and struck at Leipzig and returned without incident. More promotions came in making first lieutements out of seconds for Dwight F. Kelley, John H. Krauter, Janes M Pivonka, Gherald A Plank and Robert J. Wendling. Two new crews were assigned to the Squadron from the 70th Replacement Control Depot, headed by their pilots, Flight Officer Charles D. Reimer and Second Lieutemant Emil V. Busch. Two First Lieutemants made Captain this day, Ivan W. Champion and Charles W Wilson while orders came through releasing Major John P. Gihhons from the post of Squadron Operations Officer and from the Squadron to Hq Detachment of the 100th Bomb Group. Gibbon's place in Operations was taken over by Captain Charles Robbs.

The next day the planes flew to Bucken and returned without casualty. The day also saw the departure from the Squadron of the April infantry replacement shipment, composed of Johnsie C. Capps, Sr, John Lamartine, Richard C Bissell, Memecio Garcia, Diego Hernandez, Harold J. Milway, Antinno L Barbosa, Raymond Daniel, Walter Kane, Faraon S Chapa, Angelo J Genovese, and John Atkinson. Lieutenant Nathaniel Gault received his promotion to 1st Lieutenant.

On the eighth the Squadron planes struck another blow, this time at Egar, and came back once again without incident.

not quite as lucky as they had been. Flak rose up out of the German town and one burst caught one of the aircraft, wounding Flight Officer Meyer Soft Anthony Bacewicz in the knee. The wounds, serious though they were, did not hospitalize any of the men for too long a period and shortly afterwards they were backuto a duty status.

On the eleventh the planes hit Landshut and came back without occupied the unit. Flight Officers Marvin Berg and Jack Clopeck received their commissioned as Second Lieutenants with due ceremony from Major Horace L. Varian the Station Adjutant.

There were a few in the area that night of the twelfth of April who listened to the midnight news broadcast of the British Boradcasting Sorporation. It began abruptly and without preamble. "It is with the deepest regret "the voice said "that we announce the death of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in Warm Sppings, Georgia, this afternoon." That's all it took. A few ordinary every day words to bring a phase of Americana to an end.

Most people learned it the next morning. The men of the Squadron had been divided during the November elections. But in April their shock was uniform. It was not only the death of the President. Nor the passing of the Commander-in-Chief. Nor the end of an era. But rather the shock of losing someone whom everyone had somehow come to accept as a part of their family life, an intangible friend. Incredible. Crushing. Humbling.

The flag was at half mast on the Post. And throughout England the men and women of Britain stopped the men on pass and furlough to express their shock and sense of loss. And the men of America, the men of the Squadron watched a week-end pass into the dignity of sorrowful history. Somehow, a little tiny bit of good had been stoden from the world in the middle of a sunny afternoon.in a little bungalow in Georgia.

On the fourteenth the ships flew to Bordeaux to aid the French in ridding the Germans from their idolated West coast port. They returned the following day and the day following that. Lieutenant Harold C. Green received his promotion to 1st Lieutenant on the 16th.

On the 19th Albert Paul, Post Exchange Officer, and Squadron Adjutant, was promoted to the grade of Captain, Oranienburg, north of Berlin in a sustained attack in aid of the advancing Red Army aimed at Berlin. All returned safely. This day saw the promotion of Charles J Scott, the Squadron Navigator, to Captain and the promotion from 2nd Lieutenant to First of Frank H. Hemmen. On the 20th the orders came through for the transfer to the hospital detachment at the 65th General Hospital for Corporal Bernard R. Salmond. This meant his return to the States and while the men were sorry to see him go, for he had been a member of the Squadron for over two years, they knew it was best for him.

A second shipment to the infantry reinforcement depot left on the 20th and this time the men to go were Corporal Louis Levy, Corporal Gordys B Diers, x Pfc Robert L Walker, and Private Jack E Marschall.

Orders came through on the 21st to send Staff Sergeant Thomas A. Madel home to the States for discharge under the overage laws. Tom had been a member of the Squadron since the beginning days and knew everyone. Everyone was glad for him ... and a little sorry to see him leave even so.

The 23rd saw the promotions from Second Lim tenant to First Lieutenant of five officers, Harry F. McKnight, George H. Lenke, Jr., Bernard Gnat, Norbert C Etzel, Raymond E Bluhm. And two days later five more received their promotions. This time Raymond T Albright, James T Brewer, James L Dizmang, Isadore I Kaminsky, and HUbert C Schlemmer became silver bar-ed men.

The following day George Henry Neff III and Meyer Rothfarb relinquished their Flight Officer rating and accepted commissions as Second Lieutenants. This day also saw the departure for home of T Sgt Dohald W Hradley, the Squadron photo man, who had completed a tour of combat duty flying as photographer.

On the 28th Private Robert L. McRae and Sergeant Jacob R Skaggs were transferred to the 94th Air Depot Group. Sergeant Skaggs who had acted as Squadron Charge of Quarters for many months during the war, had been working as a clerk in the Station Post Exchange for several months prior to his leaving.

On the 29th Sergeant Henry D. McLafferty who, after suffering transfer frost bite during combat flying in January and having been transferred to a hospital detachment at that time, returned to the Squadron by reassignment.

And so the month of April came to an end. And as it ended rumors flooded the air. Hitler was dead. Himmler was negotiating with Count Bernodotte of Sweden for a surrender to the Americans and English. but not the Russians. And the planes of the Squadron had not flown a combat mission since the twentieth of April. And so as April went out, hope and May came in ... in a snowstorm.

STEPHEN B. SMITH, Captain, Air Corps, Engineering Officer. CONTINUATION OF THE HISTORY

456TH SUB-DEPOT ADMINISTRATIVE SECTION

now called

838TH AIR ENGINEERING SQUADRON

APRIL 1, 1945 to MAY 1, 1945

There were no major administrative changes in the 456th Sub-Depot until the 6 April 1945, when Lt. Col. PATRICK C. BOUCHARD, was relieved of assignment with this unit, and reassigned to Headquarters Detachment, 100th Bomb Group. Following this change Major EUGENE ROVEGNO was assigned from Headquarters Detachment, 100th Bomb Group, and assumed command of this organization.

Captain JAMES B. GALLAGHER w s placed on Temporary duty, 8 April 1945, at Headquarters U.K. Base for approximately 7 days.

Four enlisted men were transferred to the 12th Reinforcement Depot on 9 April 1945. The following day four enlisted men were transferred into the organization from 70th Reinforcement Depot. This being the first limited service personnel assigned to this unit.

The 456th Sub-Depot was disbanded on the 15th of April 1945 per Secret General Order #52, Section I, Headquarters, 8th Air Force dated 12 April 1945.

The 838th Air Engineering Squadron was activated on the 15 April 1945 per Secret General Order #52, Section II, Headquarters, 8th air Force, dated 12 April 1945, with 6 officers, 1 warrant officer, and 203 enlisted men assigned from Headquarters #12th mir Service Group. Captain JOHN I HERLIHY assumed command.

The majority of the enlisted personnel were formerly in the 456th Sub-Depot and the other part of the enlisted personnel were of an ordnance company, and are now operating the Medium Maintenance section of this squadron.

Most of the men are taking advantage of furlough and pass privileges.

The latter being changed as to allow 72 hours leave every three weeks.

Lt. FREDERICK M. MERRITT left this organization for approximately six weeks temporaryduty at Heacquarters U.S. Strategic Air Force in Europe, Engineering command.

There is an unusual amount of tension among all persons, as the war goes into its last stages, but the common opinion is the enemy must be completely crushed, and there shall be no slack even in these final days.

We wonder, what next?

SQUADRON HISTORY

It needs a Gibbons to chronicle a month such as April 1945. For in this month stood alone from the procession of months and held within its solitary circle the most glorious, most tragic, most moving events ever recorded in the history of modern man. Had Caesar, Hannibal, and the Empire of the Romans fallen away within a month no greater change could have come to the world than came to it with April, 1945. These were the days that marked the passing of an era. This wasman the full fruition of the years before.

For the first two days of the month the ships did not fly but on the third they took off for Kiel and the great German shipyards. The mission encountered light and inaccurate flak, no fighter opposition and all returneds afely. To complete their task they flew to Kiel again on the following day. On the fifth however to aid the third army in southern Germany they flew to Nuremberg and returned without insident. However, the crew cpatained by Lieutenant George S Fowler was forced down on the other side and did not return until the following day. On this day the promotion for Lieutenant James n. Plough was received and he replaced his gold bars with silver ones.

On the sixth the ships flow still further east and struck at Leipzig and returned without incident. More promotions came in making first lieutenants out of seconds for Dwight F. Kelley, John H. Krauter, James M Pivonka, Gherald A Plank and Robert J. Wendling. Two new crews were assigned to the Squadron from the 70th Replacement Control Depot, headed by their pilots, Flight Officer Charles D. Reimer and Second Lieutenant Emil V. Busch. Two First Lieutenants made Captain this day, Ivan W. Champion and Charles W Wilson while orders came through releasing Major John P. Gihhons from the post of Squadron Operations Officer and from the Squadron to Mq Detachment of the 100th Bomb Group. Gibbon's place in Operations was taken over by Captain Charles Robbs.

The next day the planes flew to Bucken and returned without casualty. The day also saw the departure from the Squadron of the April infantry replacement shipment, composed of Johnsie C. Capps, Sr., John Lamartine, Richard C Bissell, Memecio Garcia, Diego Mernandez, Harold J. Milway, Antonno L Barbosa, Raymond Daniel, Walter Mane, Faraon S Chapa, Angelo J Genovese, and John Atkinson. Lieutenant Nathaniel Gault received his promotion to 1st Lieutenant.

On the eighth the Squadron planes struck another blow, this time at Dar, and came back once again without incident.

The wenth saw them heading for Burg and this time they are not quite as lucky as they had been. Flak rose up out of the German town and one burst caught one of the aircraft, wounding Flight Officer Byer Rothfarb in the leg, 2nd lt william G. Brumpholz, in the leg, and S Sgt Anthony Baccwicz in the lame. The wounds, serious though they were, did not hospitalize any of the men for too long a period and shortly afterwards they were backete a duty status.

On the eleventh the planes hit Landshut and came back without injury. The twelfth found them grounded for the day and only routine matters occupied the unit. Plight Officers Marvin Borg and Jack Clopeck received their commissioned as second bieutements with due coronony from Major Horace L. Varian the Station Adjutant.

There were a few in the area that night of the twelfth of April who listened to the midnight news broadcast of the British Appadeusting Sorporation. It began abruptly and without preamble. "It is with the deepest regret "the voice said "that we announce the death of fresident Franklin Delano descript in Warm Sppings, Georgia, this afternoon." That's all it took. A few ordinary every day words to bring a phase of Americana to an end.

Most people learned it the next morning. The men of the equadron had been divided during the Movember elections. But in April their shock was uniform. It was not only the death of the President. Nor the passin; of the Commander-in-Chief. Nor the end of an era. But rather the sheek of lesing someone whom everyone had somehow come to accept as a part of their family life, an intangible friend. Incredible. Crushing. humbling.

The flag was at half mast on the Post. And throughout England the men and women of Britain stopped the men on pass and furlough to express their shock and sense of loss. And the men of America, the men of the Squadron wasched a week-end pass into the dignity of sorrowful history. Somehow, a little tiny bit of good had been stoden from the world in the middle of a sunny afternoon.in a little bungalow in Georgia.

On the fourteenth the ships flew to Bordeaux to aid the French in ridding the Gen.ans from their idelated West coast port. They returned the following day and the day following that. Lieutenant Harold C. Green received his promotion to 1st Lieutenant on the 16th.

By this time of April the armies of the Allies had spilled over the breadth of Germany. What remained was only the token of Germany. A hard, stubbern, but slowly remained was only the token of Germany. A hard, stubbern, but slowly remained was only the token of Germany. A hard, stubbern, but slowly remained was only the planes headed for the north. Putton to the east. And on the 18th the planes headed for Grecheslovakia and bombed the rail center of Aussig in aid of General Patton's forces. On the 18th Flight Officers John W Middisagh and Bockhorst and Lee G diddiough accepted their commissions as Second Lieutenants. And, too, Flight Officer Arnold L Wimer's commission came through this day.

On the liber Albert Paul, Post Exchange Officer, and Equadran Adjutant, was promoted to the grade of Captain, Oranienburg, north of berlin in a sustained attack in aid of the advancing Red Ar. y aimed at Darlin. All returned safely. This day maw the promotion of Charles J scott, the equatron Havigator, to Captain and the premotion from 2nd Dieutemant to First of Frank H. Homson. On the 20th the orders came through for the transfer to the hospital detachment at the 55th General Hospital for Corporal Bernard R. Salmond. This meant his return to the states and while the men were sorry to see him go, for he had been a member of the Squadron for over two years, they knew it was best for him.

A second shipment to the infantry reinforcement depot lef; on the 20th and this time the men to go were Corporal Louis Lovy, Corporal Gordys B Diers, a Fic Robert L Maller, and Private Jack L marschall.

Thomas A. Madel home to the States for discharge under the overage laws.

Tom had been a member of the Squadron since the beginning days and know everyone. Everyone was lad for him ... and a little sorry to see him leave even so.

The 23rd Law the promotions from Second Lie temant to First Lieutenant of five officers, Harry F. Hadnight, George H. Lamba, Jr., Barnard Gnat, Norbert C Bissel, Maymond E Bluhm. And two days later five more received their promotions. This time Maymond T Albright, James T Brower, dames L Dizmang, Isadore I Maminsky, and Moore C Schlesmor became silver ter-ed men.

The following day George Henry Neff III and Meyer Rothfarb relinquished their Flight Officer rating and accepted commissions as Second Lieuterants. This day also saw the departure for home of T Mgt bonald A Bradley, the Equadron photo man, who had completed a tour of combat duty flying as photographer.

On the 28th Private Robert L. Medae and Sergment Jacob R Shages were transferred to the 94th Air Depot Group. Sergment Skames who had acted as Squadron Charge of quarters for many months during the war, had seen working as a clerk in the Station Fost Enclosure for several months prior to his 1 aving.

On the 20th Sorgeant Honry D. Helafforty who, after suffering transluct frost bits during combat flying in January and having been transferred to a hospital detachment at that time, returned to the Squadron by reassignment.

And so the month of April came to an end. And as it ended rumors flooded the sir. Matter was dead. Minuter was negotiating with Count Bernodotte of sweden for a surrender to the Americans and English.. but not the Aussians. And the planes of the Squadron and not floom a combat mission since the twentieth of a will. And so as april went out, hope and May came in ... In a snowsterm.

at Murnberg were bombed, marshalling yards at Leipzig were hit on the 6th of the month. Vast underground oil stores at Buchen were attacked by units of the Squadron on the 7th. The Squadron joined in an attack on marshalling yards at Eger, Caechoslovakia, on the 6th. Airfields near Munich were attacked on the 9th, and on the 16th more airfields were attacked near Magdeburg.

On the 11th an Ordnance depot near Landshut was bombed. The next three missions were flown on the 14th, 15th and 16th to destroy Masi defenses at Royan, France; during these attacks, a new type of bomb employing jellied gaso-line was used with a high degree of success. On the 17th, marshalling yards were attacked at Aussig, the same type of target was also attacked at Tabor on the 18th, and at Oranienburg on the 20th. The missions for the month ended with an attack on airfields near Munich, Germany.

With victory in plain eight now, the tremendous tension of full-raging war seemed to be less felt than before, but combat still continued to claim some of those engaged in destroying the Reich. The first loss in April occurred on the third on the mission to Kiel, Germany, when aircraft number 3-8992 was lost with its crew. These officers and men included the pilot, Lieutenant Francis G. Beedle, with 19 missions, the Co-Filot Lieutenant William E. Baldwin, Jr., with two missions, the navigator Flight Officer John Buckley with three missions, the toggleer, Sergeant Lealie O. Davis, with three missions, the radio operator, Sergeant Kermit E. Jones, with three missions, ball turret gunner, Sergeant Randolph H. Goodwin, with three missions, top turret gunner, Sergeant Kerneth E. Wright with three missions, the tail gunner, Sergeant Ogden W. Berron, with three missions, and the right waist gunner, Sergeant Alfred Mantopoli with three missions.

Aircraft number 33-6992 was unable to release its bombs over the target and remained in formation until it reached 5417N - 0808E on the route back to the base. There the bombs were jettisened from 25,600 feet at 1833 hours. The plane appeared to be undamaged and continued on with the formation to 5405N - 0620E at 1850 hours, when the wheels were lowered and the pilot called over Very High Frequency saying he was low on gas and would try to make it back to the base alone. The aircraft peeled off and down toward the undereast when the formation reached 5250 - 0300E, 1952 hours. At 10,000 feet a VHF message from the pilot of 992 was heard saying he had 80 gallons of gasoline per engine left and estimated he was 15 minutes from land. Nothing further was seen or heard from the aircraft. Other pilots suggest that cloud conditions were favorable for icing and that the aircraft may have been lost due to ice picked up in passing through clouds. Undereast was at 8,000 feet with 10/10th's sky coverage. Nothing has been heard from the crew since this occurrence.

The Squadrons second loss occurred on the 10th of April on the mission to Magdeburg when aircraft number 43-38963 was lost. Its crew included the pilot, Lieutenant Lawrence W. Bazin, with 20 missions, co-pilot, Lieutenant James T. Dotson, with 20 missions, the Navigator, Lieutenant John D. Gross with 28 missions, the toggleer, T/Sergeant Arthur W. Flowers, 28 missions, the radio operator, T/Sgt. Glenn D. Abraham, 21 missions, ball turret gunner

SQUADRON DIARY 418TH BOMBARDMENT SQUADRON (H)

MARCH 1945

THURSDAY MARCH 1: Nothing doing today in the Group. Classes and trainer schedules are filled.

FRIDAY MARCH 2: The weather is clear all day today. The A/C were off at 0700. Of them eleven were ours flying the lead squadron. Each carried twenty 250 pound bombs. All squadrons bombed the M/Y at Dresden by H2X, results unobserved. There were no E/A attacks. American troops are at the Rhine.

SATURDAY MARCH 3: Briefing at 0330 hours this morning with takeoff a few hours later. Twelve of our A/C flew in the "C" Squadron, all positions but the Lead. One A/C flew in the "CHAFF" Force whose duty it is to fly ahead of the lead squadron and drop chaff to jam the German radar system. The target was Brunswick, bombed visually. This gives the bombardiers a break, but also gives the German flak men an opportunity to use visual location divices that cannot be jammed by chaff, carpet or RCM (Radar Counter Measure). The operational narrative reports for our Squadron.

"Bombs fell on tracks between the Station switching junction and the Marshalling yards" Fair Results.

Capt. Clift is acting Engineering Officer for the Group. Capt. Smith has taken over Squadron Engineering. He has been with the outfil since its early days at Walla and at Wendover. There were no casualties but there was some flak damage: 811, Lt R. E. Evans Pilot picked up slight damage between the BRL (Bomb Release Line) and the RP (Rally Point). 649, Lt L. S. Jacobs Pilot recieved slight damage at the target. 162, Lt. M. Mashyna Pilot, slight damage at the target.

SUNDAY MARCH 4: Last night featured the first Red Alert we've had in a long time. This wasn't an alert for today's mission but an alert caused by unknown A/C in the vicinity. It lasted about a half hour. The BBC announced this morning that for the first time piloted E/A were over England since last june.

Briefing at 0330 this morning for the mission. Because of 10/10 undercast, the secondary target was attacked by H2X (For the meaning of this, collar the nearest Radar man, but He'll probably be too security conscious to tell you very mich.) The 418th stood down today, although we supplied two "Ground Spares", 166 and 680. No damage or casualities to the Century Bombers today.

Tenight another alert. We heard distant bomb bursts. Then the C.Q. came about extinguishing any lights left burning. It reminded us of last year when we could see the Luftwaffe bombing Ipswich.

MONDAY MARCH 5: No real mission today, but a high altitude practice mission went up. The suplementary payroll was signed in the orderly room by those who missed the regular pay for some reason. Tent city down by the coal compound now features six tents. They are pyramidal tents upon well constructed wooden platforms. To identify various parts of the Squadron area, practice bombs have been suspended from posts and on them painted various descriptions, "Orderly Room", "Mail Room", "Tent City", "Squadron Diary" Etc. They look neat, with their blue nose and tail fins with white body and red lettering.

TUESDAY MARCH 6: No mission today.

Squadron Diary 418th Bombardment Squadron (H), March 1945, cont'd.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 7: Twelve of our A/C flew in the "B" Squadron. As they left the coast, the lead A/C's mickey equipment fouled up so the "B" squadron took over the lead. Since 10/10 cloud obscured the primary target, the secondary was bombed, Siegen. The M.O. believes the bombs fell short. Results unobserved. Lt Calder in 071 had to return early with his bombs because of engine failure.

The red alert light was burning again tonight, alert for tomorrows mission.

THURSDAY MARCH 8: No one likes to get up early, so the combat crews didn't object when briefing was at 0730. Of course a briefing at 0730 means that most of the crews are up by 0500. Twelve of our A/C flew the entire lead squadron of the Group loaded with fourteen 500lb. bombs each. The primary was bombed, Langendreer. None of our A/C were damaged. Mission on for tomorrow.

FRIDAY MARCH 9: Briefing at 0345 this morning. Target, Frankfurt. Twelve of our A/C attacked in the "C" or low squadron. A 418th PFB, 717, lead the "A" Squadron. Visual bombing but unobserved results. The German flak gunners put a lot of flak up, one interrogation form describes it as "intense accurate at target". The list of damaged A/C is ample proof. Lt H. B. Bayley's 945 received slight damage some where along the 1P-BRL-RP course. 680, Lt J. J. Bovenzi Pilot, picked up some flak holes at the BRL, as did 166, Lt A. R. Calder Pilot. Lt. O.K. Griffith's 616 had a few holes, don't know when they received them. 649, Lt. L. S. Jacobs, was hit slightly at the BRL. 817, Lt A.A. Leader Pilot, received slight damage along the IP-BRL-RP Stretch. 525, Lt W. D. Pratt Pilot, picked up some holes too, place unknown. Lt F. H. Mikesh in 005 had to bring back twelve bombs because some Foul A/C persisted in flying just below him during the bomb run.

SATURDAY MARCH 10: Personal phone calls were stopped at 0515 this morning, an invariable sign of a briefing about an hour later. The 418th stood down again today in its turn. The rest of the Group led the 13th Combat Wing to attack Dortmund by PFF. Results were unobserved because of 10/10 undercast.

The old red light by the orderly room door glowed early tonight. Mission on for tomorrow. Early in the morning out go the bomb trucks to load up the "Big-Gas Birds".

SUNDAY MARCH 11: Briefing at 0630 this morning. Eleven of our A/C flew in the "B" Squadron to attack the secondary target, Hamburg. 10/10 undercast prevented visual bombing. Fighter escort was "Excellent". There was flak. Lt A.R. Calder's 811 received slight damage between the IP and the BRL. 166, Lt. L. A. Doyle pilot, received slight damage at the target.

The old red light burns again, which means the bar at the Officers Club, the Non-Com's Club and the "Top Hat" all close early. Muan't put temptation in the way of the crews who may fly.

MONDAY MARCH 12: Briefing at 0430 hours. Twelve of our A/C make up the entire lead squadron. The Group is flying the second in the wing today. Its the 350th turn to stand down today. The secondary target shipping section and port area of Swinemunde was attacked by means of H2X, results unobserved. The A/C were back about 1600. There's no folling around on the return now. The A/C really get down in short order. Just as soon as one Taxiis off the runway, another is touching down.

TUESDAY MARCH 13: No mission today. Red light toright.

Squadron Diary 418th Bombardment Squadron (H), March 1945, Cont'd.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 14: Briefing at 0745. Twelve of our A/C flew in the "C" squadron to attack the Seelze M/Y. There was quite a bit of flak. 005, Lt. H. B. Bayley Pilot, received slight damage. Lt. A. R. Calder's 162 Also picked up slight damage. 090 Lt E. F. Cullimore pilot, and Lt. R. E. Evans' 817 both picked up slight damage around the BRL. 636, Lt R. N. Kallstrand, 636 also was damaged slightly. The results, "Bomb plot on west end of Sellze M/Y (Primary) with center of pattern probably immediately north of yard. Very good".

WEDNESDAY MARCH 14: No mission today. Tonight the alert light burns for the other squadrons, not for us. 418th stand down tomorrow.

THURSDAY MARCH 15: The 100th attacked Oranienburg today, poor results. Alert on tonight.

FRIDAY MARCH 16: The mission for Ruhland was scrubbed. Alert on again this evening.

SATURDAY MARCH 17: Briefing at 0430. The 351st stands down today. Twelve of our A/C fly the "B" or high squadron led by Maj. Stivers. There were no casualities or damage. The tactical analysis from 3rd Division reports the A.F.V. factory at Plausen, A L/R (Last Resort) target was bombed by H2X, results unobserved.

SUNDAY MARCH 18: Eleven of our A/C flew the "A" Squadron in an attack on a T.O. (Target of opportunity) Falkenburg. The intelligence report says:

"The secondary target was bombed by H2X by all three squadrons in Group Formation. Photographs show bombs of all three squadrons hitting into village of Falkenburg. R.R. running to East of village was cut in many places. Results Fair."

But the jets were up today and vigorously attacked our formations. Four A/C from the Group are missing. One of them is the 418th PFF 717. The missing A/C report tells:

"At 1120 hours 5252N 1228E A/C 717 lead of 100 "C" was attacked by an ME 262 and had its tail assembly shot off. It was seen to flip ever on its back and go down at this time. Two chutes were seen coming from the waist."

Other of our A/C damaged were 811, Lt H. B. Bayley Pilot; Lt J.J. Bovenzi's 071; Lt T. J. Carley's 945; 994, Lt O.K. Griffith' Pilot: 649, Lt. J. S. Jacobs Pilot all received slight flak damage. Lt A.R. Calder's 090 and Lt M. Mashman's 162 received slight battle damage.

The engineers and sheet metal men have a busy time for there's a mission to-morrow.

MONDAY MARCH 19: Briefing at 0505 hours. Twelve of our A/C fly, in the "C" Squadron. They bombed Jena by H2X.M.O. Reports bombing left of MPI. More flak damage today. 945, Lt T. J. Carley, picked up some more holes on the BRL. 817, Lt. R. E. Evans Pilot, received slight damage while on the BRL. 525, Lt G. Morasco Pilot, picked up slight damage while at the BRL. The planes were back about 1600 hours.

TUESDAY, MARCH 20) No mission today. Alert on for tomorrow.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 21: Our Group bombed Plauen today.

THURSDAY MARCH 22: Twelve of our A/C flew the "B" Squadron to attack visually the jet airfield at Ahlhorn. There was no damage to our A/C, but Jerry can't say that of his A/F. The operational narrative says:

"B Squadron attacked primary, Ahlhorna/F visually. Photos show bomb bursts slightly east of MPI but majority are in 2,000 foot circle. Results Good."

The other squadrons did even better. They were back shortly after noon. An alert on for this evening. The English have started their Spring repair on the Field. Currently several 418th hardstands are blocked off by steam shovels ETC. The A/C are parked on a little used runway. Alert on for tomorrow.

FRIDAY MARCH 23: Today sees the start of the use of four squadron Group. Instead of bombing with three twelve A/C formations, we now use four nine A/C formations. They are the "B" or High Squadron, "A" or Lead Squadron, the "C" or low squadron, and the "D" or Low Low Squadron. The "A" and "D" fly almost the same level with "D" trailing "A". The "B" and "C" Eschelon to left and right at different altitudes. Nine of our A/C flew in the lead squadron. The 418th PFF'S 794 and 009 led the "B" and "D" squadrons respectively.

The target, the M/Y at Unna, part of the campaign to cut off the Ruhr from the Restof the Reich. Flak at 1P to BRL was reported Meagre, inaccurate. The intelligence report says:

"100 & bombed primary visual. Photos show bombs hit in target area 1000 feet

West of MPI. Results very good".

No flak damage for the engineers tonight, but there's always engines to baby, especially since the alert light is on again.

SATURDAY MARCH 24: That alert light should have been really bright last night. Two missions today. For the first, eight of our A/C flew in the "C" Squadron to attack an A/F at Steenwijk/Havelte. The results were good for all squadrons in this visual attack.

"100 C Bombs fell 500 feet to right of MPI and pattern covers area not turn up by by previous squadrons. Good Results."

Since this was a tactical mission, there was interogation of only the lead crews. The second mission was the Ziegenhain A/F. Another visual job. We put up 10 A/C in the "D" Squadron with 418th A/C leading the "A" and "B" Squadrons. ation narrative says,

"100 D Pattern short and to left of MPE yet bombs on west end of field. Good to excellent results."

Fighter support was excellent. This generally is the comment on the reports. On this second mission two of the A/C received damage while passing over the front lines. 009, Lt C.E. Hellerich pilot and 166, Lt W.D. Pratt, Pilot, both received slight damage.

SUNDAY MARCH 25: No mission today.

MONDAY MARCH 26: No mission today. Alert on for tomorrow.

TUESDAY MARCH 27: The mission for Nurnberg was scrubbed, the second scrub this month so far. Alert on tonight.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 28: Briefing at 0330 this morning. Nine of our A/C flew in the "B" Squadron to attack the M/Y at Hannover by H2X. There were no damage or casualties, but 817, Lt. R. E. Evans blew a cylinder in #3 engine and had to jettison his bombs and return. Lt. G. P. Kane had a runaway prop and returned too, after jettisoning his bombs. The operation report said the bomb strikes weren't plotted from the photos yet, but fair results were expected. Smoke was seen to boil through the undercast.

No alert for tomorrow. Everyone gets some sleep, almost.

THURSDAY MARCH 29: No mission today. Alert for tomorrow.

FRIDAY MARCH 30: Eight of our A/C flew in the lead squadron, 418th A/C also led the "B" and "D" Squadrons. Hamburg was bombed. The operation narrative says:
"100 A PaT-H2X (Visual Assist) photos show bombs plotted in target area.
Results probably very good."

No attacks by E/A, no damage. Alert tonight.

SATURDAY MARCH 31: Eight of our A/C flew in the "C" Squadron to attack Zeitz. Results poer for this synthetic oil target. O71 was a ground spare, wasn't used.

In May 1945, the bloody reign of the Third Leich came to an end... an end underlined and impressed into the minds of the German people by the unparallelled scenes of destruction which lay before their eyes. Unlike the last war, which left German cities unscathed and gave credence to the myth that Germany had not been defeated in battle, this war brought the bricks of home and factory crashing about the ears of the Mazi in the street. It is difficult to make excuses in the midst of wreckage.

The day was 8. May 1945... a day which shall be remembered as long as man walks upon earth. A day during which the strongest attempt ever made by forces of reaction to control the world was broken. Not merely defeated, but crushed, gutted, devastated.

The 100th Group greeted the news with a sigh of relief. The surprise element was of course lacking, but it felt wonderful to know that it was officially over. Those fortunate enough to be on pass when the news broke told the lesser fortunates (who were restricted) about the riotous time they had had in London.

Then a period of speculation ensued. What now? This period ended on the final day of the month. In meetings held by all Squadron Commanding Officers immediately prior to Pay Call, the men were told of their future fates. The 100th Pomb Group had been chosen as an Occupational Group, and would probably operate from somewhere on the Continent. The first reaction was that of depression, as home seemed further away than ever before. The second impression was brighter. No movement to the Pacific. Speedy rotation from the Continent was mentioned. Things were not too bad after all.

May also had its points. In fact, "Hi Joe, how many points you got?"
became the standard theme greating. G.I. mathematicians sharpened their pencils and minds, adding, subtracting, biting nails in mighty attempts to scale the heights to the magic 85. Many made the grade. More did not. All of the original members of the Group were within striking distance of the charmed circle, however, and with a story gleaned from the Stars and Stripes about two a ditional Battle Stars at five points per, the hopes of the 75-plus men rose.

Although no combat operations featured the first twelve days of May, six Chowhound Missions were dispatched to drop food rations to the famine—threatened people of Holland. Returning crews and ground passengers told of the huge crowds waiting around the dropping zones and the spelling out of "Thank You" signs on the ground.

And as the historic month closed, everyone wondered how much longer the Group would remain in Norfolk, England.

Special Instructions re CHOWHOUND MISSIONS as set forth by USSTAF:

A. Crews will be briefed on the importance of this operation to the Dutch people, and will be instructed to make every effort to drop loads in the proper areas.

The civilian population of Occupied Holland, particularly in the cities, is suffering from lack of food as the result of their isolation and occupation by enemy troops, and deaths are occurring at the rate of several thousand per day. In order to alleviate famine conditions this Air Force and the RAF have been ordered to drop food supplies in the visinity of the larger cities West and SW of the Zuider Zee. A truce with the German forces occupying this portion of Holland is being made in order that our Air Force may fly unmolested at required low altitudes through defended area.

B. All crews will be cautioned against committing a hostile act of any kind while over Holland. Second runs are not authorized if aircraft are being fired upon from the ground.

All aircraft are cautioned to stay South of a line running East and West from Den Helder. The truce does not extend North of this line.

1 May 1945

Volkenburg, Holland.

Number of Aircraft- 40.

The 100th Bomb Group flew in the 13th "B" Wing with the 390th Leading. The bombing was performed in Squadron Formation. The IP was made good but the target was hard to identify until the aircraft were almost on top of it. Several bombardiers reported that the white cross was not in the spot that was given as the MPI but some distance closer as an aiming point. Drift was from the North and the bombardiers aimed slightly up-wind to compensate for this. All elements reported good bombing results and boxes were observed to hit in the target area. Some boxes hung up due to the congested condition of the bomb bays. However, the bombardiers had been thoroughly briefed for this and two large boards were provided in the aircraft so that the Engineer and radio man could push the rations out. A different method of bracing these boxes will be used in the future for operations and it is hoped that the difficulty will be eliminated. 37 aircraft dropped their load on the assigned target. Altitude for all Squadrons was 400 feet.

Weather: Route out: 9-10/10 cumulus and stratocumulus base 1000 feet with scattered light rain showers.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT: Boxes hit on Airdrome by all Squadrons of 100th Group.

2 May 1945

Schiphol, Holland.

Number of Aircraft: 40.

100 "A": The IP was made good and the bomb rum made as briefed. No enemy action was encountered. The target was picked up at fifteen miles.

100 "B": The 100th Bomb. Group was second in the Division line and attacked the Primary Target. The IP was made good but due to an element ahead which cut off 100 "B" at that point, it was necessary to do considerable "S"ing in order to avoid propwash and maintain the proper interval. The weather and visibility were very good at the target.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT: All boxes hit on Airdrome or immediate vicinity with the exception of 90 which were propped on land at 5235-0447E. Interrogation reports indicate results to be very good. Boxes landing on runways appeared to break on impact. These landing on grass appeared to remain intact. The white cross designating the dropping point was clearly visible.

Weather: Target: (Schiphol Airfield). 4-6/10 cumulus base 1500'-2000'.

39 Aircraft dropped rations on the assigned target from an altitude of 460 feet.

3 May 1945 Bergen-Alkmaar A/F, Hilversum.

Number of Aircraft; 40.

The IP was made good. The target area was picked up at three miles and positively identified. The white cross was predominate and the bags were released from an altitude of 400 feet with good results.

100."C": The white cross was not seen on the first run, so a second run was made. Boxes and bage were dropped and all hit around white cross.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT: Photos show all food landed on or very near the designated dropping zone. Weather did not interfere with mission. Bases of stratus over Channel from 600 to 1500 feet. Scattered showers. Low visibility in showers.

39 Aircraft attacked the target.

5 May 1945 Bergen-Alkmaar, Hilversum.

Number of Aircraft: 40.

The IP was made good. Weather was 4 to 6/10 high clouds, and ground haze restricted visibility to 5-8 miles. The ration bags were released from an altitude of 500 feet. All aircraft successfully attacked.

INTELLIGENCE REPIRT: 100A and B Squadrons- Crews report rations dropping on assigned zone.

100C and D Squadrons- Crews and monitor A/C report dropping in assigned zones.

Crews observed many Germans with the Dutch civilians waving arms. All crews report finding white crosses with ease.

CHOWHOUND MISSION 6 May 1945 Alkmaar-Bergen A/F, Hilversum. Number of Aircraft: 36. 100"A"; The IP was cut short by 3 miles in order to avoid the A/C ahead. The target area was identified at 4 miles. Rations were dropped on the white cross but one side hung up, necessitating a second rum. The run was made and the remainder of the rations were dropped. NOTE: Several A/C reported one or two bags hanging up in the bomb bay, either on the bomb shackle preventing its releasem or were caught in the mechanism inside the bomb bay itself. These individual bags were returned to the base. There was no case reported of anyone dropping outside the areas assigned, and all reports were that the bags dropped within a radius of 100 feet from the white cross. Altitude was 400 feet, and all aircraft attcaked the target. INTELLIGENCE REPORT: Results were judged as excellent.

CHOWHOUND MISSION . 7 May 1945

Schiphol, Holland.

Number of Aircraft: 36.

The IP was made good and the bombing run made as briefed from an altitude of 400 feet. Weather was CAVU.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT: 100 A, B, C, and D Squadrons dropped in order as briefed. All supplies dropped near white crosses.

THE ROSENTHAL LEGEND

During the bitterest days at Valley Forge, if the question 'what are you fighting for?" had been asked of the average, shivering, footsore private in the line, his answer would undoubtedly have been "To go home."

Unlike any other group of fighting men, soldiers of the United States are probably unique in their curious, negative patriotism. This does not mean that they are not on the average intensely patriotic, but they close up or make a joke of it when seriously asked as to their true convictions, - exactly just why they are fighting. (Besides the draft board.)

Only in Hollywood and in the slick popular magazines does one find the stubbly-faced veteran looking off to the horizon and intensely saying, "Why, I know what I'm fighting for. I'm fighting for the smell of Fall leaves burning on State Street, the crowds cheering at football games, the hot biscuits my mother makes" - and so on, ad nauseum.

All of this is but an inept attempt at introducing an unusual personality.

An individual who has convictions, plus the courage and opportunity to act upon them.

He is Lt. Col. Robert Rosenthal. A certain amount has been written about the Colonel; but a great deal more has been spoken about him. In the inevitable bull sessions in pub and Nissen Hut in the ETO, his exploits, record and motives have been hashed and rehashed by a great many people, ranging from privates to generals. Much that is attributed to him is the fantasy that gathers about all who become legendary in their own time.

For a good many months, I had been hearing of Col. Rosenthal - the One-Man Air Force - the pilot who wouldn't quit. In the Officers Club bar in the evening, sitting around the fireplace briting by r, I'u hearu a good many discussions about, had never thought of, and that I would have to ask someone else about it if I wanted to find out. In fact, that he'd like to 'mour himself.

that from here on out it was all velvet. To a certain excent, that it was lucky to be with him as he couldn't go down, that he'd always bring himself and his men back.

The Colonel, with the ending of the European war, returned to the United States -- not, I'm uite cure, to rest on his laurels, maich are numerous, but rather to start promoting to go to the CEI to continue leading in the air until the Japanese war is over or until he was down. One or the other must be the ending of the Rosenthal Legend. Until that the this piece will not be finished.

full Colonel.

Cum Laude from Law School, and feeling that war was inevitable, applied for the Air Corps. A few days after hearl barbor, he began the long months of training that produce a pilot. In August 1943, he arrived in Incland, a 2nd Lt. pilot of a Flying Fortress. At that time, a tour consisted of 25 missions. The flow in most positions in his group formations, but by the end of his first tour, he was flying lead.

Upon completion of 25 missions, he could have returned to the States, but instead asked for permission to continue flying until the end of the war. This decision was bas d upon his convictions, confidence, plus knowing exactly that the score was. En the time Colonel hosenthal had complete his first 25 he had been on some tough ones and felt that he knew his chances as well as anyone.

Today, the missions he flew then are alluded to as the "old bad days" — the days of open waist windows and frostbite, long and large fighter attacks, intense flak over practically the entire continent, the days when the loss of planes and men were expected. (Today one asks, "Did they all get back?" instead of "How many did we lose?")

Since my original talk with the Colonel, I've uestioned several of the men who have flown with him. Invariably they say that he is extremely cool and gives to those about him a feeling of his own confidence and capability. He never jokes or says anything that is not absolutely necessary over the intercom.

As I knew that there is a certain amount of superstition among most flyers concerning those who have gone on past the number of missions require of them by the Army as a tour of combat duty, I asked the Colonel if he had ever noticed any reluctance on the part of the men that flew with him. Did they feel that he was flying on "borrowed time"? He replied that that was something he whow nothing

4 bailed out. He then jumped from an altitude of 2000 feet, landing behind the Russian lines. His right arm was broken once more. Colonel Rosenthal later receive? the Distinguished Service Cross for this mission - his 52nd. I couldn't help but sit there and marvel at a man who would call all that a "milk Run", yet he was back and safe, and there have been those who have known trouble but once in the air, who will never be back. I then asked him about sweating it out, how did he feel while the flak burst about him, or when he saw planes that contained men he know going down in flames? What did he think as he lay in bed the night before a mission when all about him could be seen the glowing tips of cigarettes where others lay awake? He said that he probably got as scared as the next man, that fear of death and the other hazards of the air were a normal thing. A person would have something trong with them if they didn't sweat them out. However, he went on to say that now the actual flying on the bomb run, etc. didn't bother him as it once had. Now that he flew only as Command Pilot leading Group, Wing or Division formations, he had no time in the air to think too such of the dangers about him. This psychology of the airman holds true for most crew members. They feel better if they can be doing something while on the bomb run. Reeping the hands occupied prevents the mind from dwelling too much on the surrounding extern ls. If nothing else, take a camera and shoot pictures of nearby planes and the bursts of flak about them. This period from the Initial Point on is undoubtedly the worst mentally just as it is in physical actuality. After the bomb run is over, everything else is anti-climax. The Colonel's rise has been meteoric, but no more so than a number of other Aircraft Filots who have risen in a short time from 2nd Lt. to Lt. and

As he talked, there was no element of "flag-waving or posing. He was absolutely sincere, he felt the thing definitely, and was not ashaned, coy, or however you want to put it, of saying exactly what he felt.

Another thing I asked the Colonel was how he felt about his 52 missions. Jid he feel that he had been lucky, had had more accidents than could normally be expected in that number of missions, or less? His reply was to a certain extent the standard belief of most air crews.

"The only unlucky ones are those who don't return; all those that come back are lucky. I've had a milk run so far -- all those you come back from are milk runs."

Just to keep the record straight, the Colonel has on one occasion had a propellor shot off, which flew into another prop, knocking the second one off as well. He returned from Germany with only two engines. A mission or so later, he flew the only ship to return from a mission to hunster. All the rest had gone down, and although his ship was badly damaged, hosie brought it back. Some missions later, he received the Furple Heart for wounds to both legs. Still later, "Iter another bombing expedition to Germany, his badly riddled ship was forced to crash-land in Belgium. He lay trapped in the plane for some time with severe facial lacerations and a broken arm before being pulled out of the gasoline-soaked wreckage by S/Sgt Palmer, one of the uninjured crew members.

As soon as his arm healed, Rosie was back in the air again. On 3 February 1945, he flew as Division Lead Air Commander to Berlin, Germany. This time, a ground rocket scored a direct hit on his aircraft prior to bombs away. Colonel Rosenthal completed the run, after which the crippled plane relin uished the lead. As the aircraft went down, fire streaming from the bomb bay, the Colonel remained at the controls until certain that every crew member had about him. About how his family was in Germany and that he intended to hit back for their sufferings until the Germans finally got him or the war ended. I heard of his various narrow escapes, his flying ability, his disregard of those above and below him in the hiearchy of the army who wanted him to fuit, to take a desk job, to go home - "for his own good."

Finally, using as an excuse the fact that I write the Group monthly history, I approached him and asked if I could do an article about him for it. He said OK and to meet him the next morning in the Squadrons Orderly Room of the outfir he commanded.

The following morning we sat in his office while I tried to find out the whys and wherefores of the Rosenthal Legend.

He is a big man, with broad, heavy-set shoulders, dark hair, and a hawk nose accentuated by the still not completely healed scars of facial lacerations received when he crashed in Belgium and lay for some time trapped in the wreckage of his plane. He was wearing the conventional dark green battle jacket, but with the exception of his silver leaf, had on no insignia, ribbons, etc - not even his wings. His arm, which was broken again recently when he parachuted into the Russian lines, was in a sling.

One of the first things I asked about was the story I had heard of his family being prisoners of the Germans. He called it a lot of hooey, and said that his family - mother, sidter, brother-in-law and niece were all back in the States, and in Brooklyn.

That in itself, exploded the biggest motive for it being a personal, one man war. I asked about this. He replied that it was anything but a one man crusade; that he objected to anyone even thinking he was fighting a one man war.

"I have no personal reasons. Everything I've done or hope to do, is strictly because I hate persecution, the kicking around of anyone, and I don't wear just the Jews alone, I mean all those that have been jumped on by the Nazis."

"FLATER! TE. UP"

Occupation known as "flamain" up" the new crews. Undoubtedly this hobby was not indigenous with the 100th Bomb Group, but it probably reached one of its higher levels of perfection here due both to length of time practiced and the tireless effort expended by so many men.

as an example the arrival of a new crew and selecting one man from it (let's make it the co-pilot) and following him about for his first week or so on the base.

The new crew, after detraining at Diss is stacked along with their small mountain of luggage into a truck. The truck pulls into the base and stops in one of the sites at the orderly room. To the men are piling out of the truck and their first look around at their new home, they will probably near shouts coming from the combat barracks of "fresh meat" and "meat on the table". Their indoctrination has begun.

The lads are assigned a barracks and lug their equipment over to it. The four officers of the new crew are given one as a new thome away from home and the enlisted personnel live as a unit in another.

Cur co-pilot gets his first lifting of morale when he is told that the bed he is to sleep in was vacated just yesterday and by a fellow who was last seen parachuting down over one of the more unhealthy regions of the muhr Valley. In fact, that there are twelve empty beds in their building due to enemy action just the day before.

In the far end of the building and laying on all the best sacks are the old crews looking very combattish, just bored veterons disdaining to pay a hell of a lot of attention to the new Junior Eird Men. At this time it would be duite easy for an onlooker to figure out the men having the greater number of missions among the veterans. The man with the most is probably paying the least amount of attention to the whole thing, whereas the man who moved in but a few weeks ago has the appearance of at least a second-tour, two-ditchings, three-wash-landings, German-fighters-to-his-credit veteran.

Defore long, though, they are all in several little clusters, finding out all the poop about where they trained, where they went through phases, who they knew in common, is that dirty son-of-a-bitch Blow still Tech. Officer of such-and-such field, etc, etc.

all of this is but preliminary to the flakking process for which most of the established combat men are waiting with drooling anticipation. Soon one of the new men, perhaps our co-pilot, asks how is it over here, as rough as we've heard? And then, whammy! the flak starts popping.

In a very few minutes, more B-17's are exploding and going down in flames with nary a parachute to be seen, more pilots are returning to the base with shot up ships and dead men aboard, more planes are crashing on mountain sides - the Channel - the North Sea - by lakes - in Begium - in Holland - France - in fact, it can get so bad that the borracks orderly who some times of necessity is present is generally given another cluster to his Air Medal by the Awards Section.

dope from all sides. At least one behershey-barred ground officer has cornered a new fledgling in the bar and cadged a drink and told him all about the old lays- the days of no nose guns, no fighter escort, the days of the real cerman fighter attacks, on and on until our incipient hero breaks away and stumbles over to the rest of his crew who are sitting, looking bleak-faced at a beribboned veteran who is telling them how many times but one or two planes have returned to the base when a maximum effort had flown away in the morning.

a number of variations to this standard, worked out on this base, at least one of which I believe to be unique with the 100th. This is the ghost-of-dead-flyer-veterans, or haunted barracks method.

Probably the best known of the Bloody Mundredth's ghosts is the "Ghost of Namilian". This is an eight or nine foot tell ghost that wears full flying equipment including an oxygen mask, who stalks through the wall of the building and stands at the foot of his old bed and stares down at whoever is occupying it at the time. To date there are no actual eye witnesses, only men who know a fellow who saw it but went home day before yesterday or went down yesterday. Because of the ghost, however, all the old fellows have 45's or Carbines hung at the head of their bad and warm all new men to be extremely careful if they should return late at night so that they are not mistaken for "the Ghost" and shot.

Another method is to always recognize an item of the equipment that has been newly issued to a newcomer as a jacket or helmet that has always been one of the most unlucky on the field - always bringing nothing but trouble if not death to the wearers of it.

The basis or origin of the flakking process is probably not original with the Air Corps, but it has been brought to heights of technical perfection in it, especially in the 100th Bomb Group.

THE LATEST AND THE HOTTEST

After May 8th there have been but three primary functions or occupations on on this base. They are: One, continuing with the maintenance and housekeeping of the base; Two, carrying out a program of P.T., I.&E., and Pacific orientation and three, the birth, incubation, and nurturing of rumors.

By far, more man and mental hours have been given to the third or rumor phase. These rumors can be divided into several catagories. As to source is one method.

There is the common garden variety or latrine rumor, this type appears to have no apparent source, but like Topsy, is just there. It is frequently of a general or overall nature; a lot of words but nothing else, as it can generally be enterpreted in any way the hearer in his own wishful thinking would have it.

Next, there is the man-just-back-from-division or the I-heard-it-from-a-good-friend-at-division-type. Rumors that are of this nature are best passed on in sotto voice and with an air of I'm-not-telling-you-quite-all-I-know,-it's to hot. This kind generally pins a movement or whatever the thing the rumor is about down to a definite date, place, and person involved. These are almost always, wrong. Of course there is the school who firmly believe that these rumors are delibrately started at a higher source to befuddle the whole issue. If true, it adds to a certain extent a patriotic element to the telling of rumors, as after all, one is carrying out the wishes of the powers that be.

A third type of rumor is the sporting dog or pointer, this kind could also be called the indicated-on-the-surface-unrelated-happenings. This is a particularly vicious type of rumor as, if one discounts wishful thinking, it can be built up into a rapidly pyramiding series of facts that totter from point to point but arrive at a seemingly perfect and obvious conclusion, for example, a colonel has his car washed, must be an inspection of some kind or another, maybe a general is coming. What for? A general inspection, but we had one only three months ago. Only one other for it, a farewell parade. Therefore the group is not in out in an extremely short time, otherwise the car would get dirty again.

Another type is the half-over-heard-conversation-rumor. This starts usually in bars or mess halls and consists of one person hearing but a few bits of some-one elses chatter and drawing his own conclusions and then passing it on as a for-gone conclusion. This method of rumor obtaining is frowned upon by the news talented rumor mongers.

Another novel type of rumor is based upon a bit of unusual army air base folk lore. The idea is held by many that the civilian who lives near the base knows more about what is going on than is known by those who actually are part of the base. Because of this anyone who returns from taking out there laundry, meeting their local shack bait, or munching a few mild and bitters in the local pubs and is almost certain to leave the latest and the hottest.

There are numerous other sources of development of rumors but they generally do not contribute in either quality or quantity as well as the types mentioned.

Among the lesser sources falls by far the most vicious type of rumor, that is started maliciously, just to see how perverted it will be from its original form, and how long it takes to return to him.

Individuals vary a great deal in their reception of rumors. There is the dewy eyed idealist who believes everything he hears and acts as much as possible accordingly. The individual who takes by far the dimmest view possible and considers anything that happens better than he expected to be just so much velvet, the person who undoubtedly scoffs but mentally retains the rumor and later passes it on as fact.

The type that in actuality takes everything with a grain of salt but is still all ears for the latest and passes it on immediately as the hottest.

By far the noblest is the person who neither pays any attention to rumors nor passes them on. These individuals are to be cherished as they take away at least

One or two sources of pertinent poop that bedevils the poor be-hershey barred veteran as he threshes feebly in the net, a net of numerous and conflicting rumors.

Tour of THE RUHR- Personal Narrative

11 May 1945.

Today, I saw the destruction in Germany. We took off this morning at 0940 hours for an aerial look-see at all the devastation and havoc caused by Allied bombing. So much has been written about the razed and blastel cities of the Reich that mere words on a page have lost their effect, and a personal view remains the only way in which a fact can hit home. Well, I got that personal view.

The weather was slightly hazy at first, but cleared up as our six ship Squadron left ngland, cut across the Channel, and hit the Conti nent at Ostend, Belgium. Te were flying at 2500 feet, and could see quite a bit of bomb damage throughout Belgium. Plenty of P. camps were also in evidence. We flew over Brussels and Liege, heading into Germany.

The Rhine is wide and looked muddy. Ends of steel bridges and barges stuck up out of the water at grotesque angles. The entire area surrounding the river seemed lifeless. The first large city we passed was Essen. The destruction there defies adequate description. I looked in vain for a building unhit and unscarred. It's a skeleton city decorated with heaps of rubble, and ant-like humans making their laborious way through the wreckage.

Between cities, Germany is a beautiful country of rolling hills and forests, with green and brown earthen slabs of infinite variety, and gray-tan towns on the banks of vaguely winding streams. It jars ones senses to see a peaceful stretch of countryside suddenly end with the jagged edges of a bombed bridge or an area pock-marked by bombs. Adolph certainly achieverd his Crater Germany. Craters of all sizes, shapes and descriptions cut a wide swathe through the country. These gaping holes still have their utility value as rain-catchers and objects of interest for grazing cows. Most of all, they will act as reminders, gaps in the impregnable wall of the Super-Land.

One city was like another. Gray, flattened and dead. Munster, Hanover. Here, a park area somehow escaped the general destruction. There, and Autobahn still bears army traffic (of a different mien) on its slick, broad back. As the hours passed, the same pattern of devastation palled. We munched on peanut butter and spam sandwiches, washing them down with orange juice. It was difficult to speak, as the roar of four engines was too much competition.

At 1310 hours, we were over Brunswick, and at 1245, over Kassel. Once filling the air with the deadly black balls of flak, they were now inert, all fight beaten out of them. Only skeletons looked up at us. From the air, of course, you escape the stench and the closeness of filth and death. Even the naked guts of a building attains some sort of grandeur, an impressive angle at 2500 feet. Frankfurt was the final large city we passed as we cut over toward France, and it too was gutted and blackened.

It is impossible to bring back the dead of Rotterdam, of Coventry and of Guernica, but seeing the remains of the autopsy performed on Fascism is nevertheless of great satisfaction.

And so we were in France, and then over Paris at 1610 hours. We circled the city as it glinted and shone beneath us. We described a slow arc around the Eiffel Tower, and I could easily pick out the Champs-Elysee, the Madeleine Church and other landmarks. The city is little short of stunning from the air, as vivid in life as the bulwarks of Fascism had been horrible in death. We made a slow, wide sweep of the city and then headed for England, landing at 1800 hours, after eight and a half hours in the air.

14 June 1945.

SUBJECT: Ordnance Activities Report for the Month of May.

TO : Group Historian, 100th Bomb Gp., AAF Station 139, APO 559.

ORDNANCE ACTIVITIES FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1945

AMMUNITION

Supply

- 1. During the month two hundred forty 500-lb. Fragmentation Bombs were transported to the depot.
- 2. Shipping bands were placed on all bombs, fins were crated, ammunition, fuzes, and pyrotechnics were boxed in order to ready them for shipment to the depot.

ARMAMENT

Maintenance

- 3. Nine guns, machine, cal..50, M2, basic, were cleaned, technically inspected and a light coat of oil, preservative applied to prepare weapons for shipment to squadrons.
- 4. The following weapons received third echelon maintenance and were returned to the using units:
 - 3 ea. Gun, Mach., Cal..50, M2
 - 3 ea. Shotgun, Auto., 12 Ga.
 - 4 ea. Carbine, Cal..30, Ml
 - 2 ea. Pistol, Auto., Cal..45, M1911A1
- 5. Seventy-nine pistols, auto., cal..45, 11911Al were cleaned, technically inspected and cosmolined for shipment to the depot.
- 6. Forty-five rifles, U.S., cal..30, M1903 were cleaned, technically inspected for serviceability, and prepared for storage.
- 7. Thirty-eight carbines, cal..30, M1 were received from the depot. The weapons were cleaned, inspected and reissued to the authorized units.
- 8. Ten shotguns, all types, were maintained for daily use on the Skeet Range.

9. Complete technical inspection was performed on all weapons of eight organizations. Reports were forwarded to the responsible officers covering condition of weapons and steps for correction, if needed, were outlined.

Supply

- 10. A minimum of minor spare parts for gun, machine, cal..50, M2 were received from the depot, cleaned, inspected, and reissued to the squadrons for use in second echelon repair.
- 11. In order to bring stored weapons to the proper stock level, the following were received, inspected, made serviceable, boxed for shipment to the depot and dropped from the records:

79 ea. Pistol, Auto., Cal..45, M1911A1 45 ea. Receiling Parts, complete, for Gun, Mach., Cal..50, M2

AUTOMOTIVE

Second Echelon Maintenance (Performed in Second Echelon Shop organized for maintenance of Ordnance Special Purpose Vehicles.)

- 12. Fifteen day service inspection was performed on twenty-four trucks, fifty-two trailers, bomb service.
- 13. Twenty-four trucks and fifty-two trailers were greased after one month service, according to TM 9-765, Par. 13.
- 14. Eight trucks, bomb service have received oil change for monthly service.
 - 15. Six trucks and twenty-six trailers were painted during the month.
- 16. Minor adjustments have been made on all trucks and trailers during the month.

Third Echelon Maintenance

17. The following vehicles were deadlined for lack of spare parts for the time indicated before being repaired and continued in service:

Vehicle	Number	Time Deadlined
Truck, tractor, 7½ ton, F-l Semi-trailer, 4000 gal., F-l	1	4 weeks 1 week

18. The following vehicles were received for third echelon repair, the work was completed and the vehicles returned to the organization requesting the work:

Vehicle	Inspection	Minor Repair	Major Repair
Bus, Fordson, British Truck, 1/4 ton, 4x4 Truck, 3/4 ton, Command	1	2 7	٦
Truck, 3/4 ton, Weapons Carrier Truck, 1/2 ton, Cargo	1	3 2	1

351st Bombardment Squadron Diary For May 1945

More. Finally on the 35lst point of view sew German Armies collapsing everywhere. Finally on the 5th of May, a formal currender of all German resistance was announced and the officers and enlisted non of the squadron breathed a sigh of relief — and went on working. There was no let-down in 5 andron activity. There was only a quiet feeling which was diverted toward the thousand and one things which a saw from must do in order to close shop at the end of such a grim and tragle epic. This Squadron lost many in milled and wounded. (The status of these officers and men is included further along in this record). It was relief and victory but also solemnity in the memory of those the gave all, to those the were itaken for the rest of their lives, to those who know man can ever account for. The future of the 35lst is get to be decided. There are all sorts of rumors as to what it will do.

for co.1 t creas and included radio maintenance, engineering raintenance, bead loading and rock maintenance, and the object of this was to fit our co but creas for duty in the racific Theatre when their services were finally required there. Ground school classes subsequently took the place of this training and at the present time a review of all subjects persinent to the Army are being earlied outand will continue to be until the outfit moves.

T/Sgt. Bomund J. Hadke, engineer on Captain Robert J. Schomps crew which went down on July 29, 1944, over Herseberg, came back and paid the Squadron e visit. T/Sgt. Radke after going down was taken to Stelag IV - Grosstychow - Germany, and was kept there from August 15, 194, to February 6, 1945. On February 6th, he along with a group of others were forced to much until libril 26 when they were finally liberated at Bitterfiel by the 104th Intentry, 1st weerican Arry. While in prison camp, Sgt. Ladke said they were treated fairly well. Food was stimpy though, a boal of soup and a pound of potatoes per day for each man. Idving conditions were crowded, 24 men living in a room built to accome date ten men. They were allowed sporting equipment.

In camp doors were opened 15 minutes before prisoners were allowed out. Bgt. Radke sew one man shot for forgetting himself and leaving fifteen minutes too early. As a further token of their brutality, the Germans buried the man in an unarked grave and would allow no one to witness the funeral.

Sanitation and toilet facilities were bad. There was only cold water to batho in. Marcels received from the Red Cross kept most of the men fairly well nourished - - that is, when they were received.

S/Sgt. Joo Rosolino and S/Sgt. Id Lalaney, of the same craw were both at the same camp as Madko, and this made life a little more bearable for all three. On one occasion the three were eye-witnesses to allied be bing which occurred at Staargard, Gernary, but they were too far away to witness the effects.

As for your individual chances of gotting here, the prospects are pretty good that every man will be rotated back to the States within a reasonably hort time. collectments will be sent from home to take your individual places, and your next configurent will most likely be for some extended cuty at home. The point system may be will ed in determining which of you will get the first crack at this rotation although no amountement has yet been issued on the subject. The rotation system for us will very likely be set us along these lines, those of the old peace time foreign service methods. To already have a head start on our "hitches" overseas.

In our role of an occupational hir Force unit each man will have a great deal of responsibility on his shoulders. He will be a representative of the merican people and as such will be charged with conducting himself and his work in such a manner as to reflect nothing but credit upon himself and his country. His personal policy must be ctrictly in accord with that consuced by histor authority.

cach done a comentable job and have contributed materially to the termination of a man-ai of war. Acre is still lenty of work to be done in the INO, however, and sumbody has to do it. In this case, that somebody is us, and I'm sure we'll handle our end of things.

The time between now and our actual novement to the Continent will be sport in enforming transport duties, training, and whitever else comes along. I expect every man to continue to do his best.

Most of the foregoing is secret information. I will you to know what the score is, but I can also to remind you that what we do is not englody closes business. Don't talk about this to englody — perticularly people from other bases and civilians, or among yourcelves when you are off the base. You will be kept informed of any non developments. All personnel who may depart in the near future are directed and enjoined to hold this confidence and not a read their knowledge by even one repetition to a bosom bu dy. Other people may talk — we wont.

Good luck.

Squadron History - May

When one tries to look back over the unrolled expanse of May 1945 and gain some sort of perspective, even with June days piling up, it becomes impossible. Not only were international events recorded with breathless sequence but the problems, the urgencies and the turns of event within the Squadron were ragged, unsettling and exciting. Perhaps, after the whole of this business is over, they will settle into their proper places and each will have its own importance in relation to the other.

Just before the first of the month, at a time when the Squadron was thinking of him so intently, Major Gale W. Cleven came home. He had gone down over Munster in October, 1943 on his twentieth mission, with a tremenduous record of achievement and glory behind him. And when he went down he took with him the hearts of the Squadron as well. For all, this time he had languished behind the wires of the German camps and now he came home. A little thinner and a little harder but home.

The men who had known him as their first Commanding Officer were satisfied and happy. The men who had come after his disappearance had heard the tales that surrounded his legend and when he came back they too were glad and satisfied. During the week he was present with the Squadron he was a familiar figure forever eating his candy and cheerily greeting each and every one, officer and enlisted man alike. And then almost as suddenly he departed for the States and his home. And the men let him go, carrying with him a silver set, a watch and their good wishes. He had brought the Squadron overseas, led them to their finest hours, and went home on the day the war ended. The book was closed.

During the first week of May the ships flew on the famed chow-hound missions taking food to the stricken areas of Holland, pelting the deserted air fields with their flour and food and then swinging out over the cities of the countryside in low abandon as the people of Holland waved their hands in welcome greeting. Later in the month the ships began to fly into the interior of Germany and Austria to bring back to France and England the liberated prisoners of war.

The message that the war was officially over came through the teletype machines on the morning of the seventh. And beginning at noon of that day and extending through to midnight of the eighth the men were automatically restricted to the base. Trhough Monday and Monday night and Tuesday as well the men walked, worked and waited for the moment when, by his carefully chosen words, the Prime Minjster put an end to the months of working and waiting .. and introduced a new kind of wondering and waiting in its place.

During the month the men continued their furloughs and passes without interruption other than the VE Day pause. Towards the end of the month the introduction of a military training program necessitated the restriction of all personnel to the base on Saturday and Sunday in an effort of finish the program to the satisfaction of higher headquarters.

The day following the VE announcement was declared a holiday insofar as practicable for the base and most of the departments operated with a skeleton staff.

On the eleventh two full crews were transferred to the Casual Pool of the 70th Reinforcement Depot en route for home ... only to have the orders revoked before they could get even a start. However, before the end of the month they managed to clear out and head for home. Among them went Capatins David C Raiford, Captain Ivan W Champion and Charles J Scott who had been associated with the Squadron for a long period of time.

On the evening of the eleventh the now-famous and/or infamous point system as devised by the Army was announced over the American Forces Network. In every office, barracks and tent where radios were installed the men listened intently as the valuations were given. And as they heard that each bronze battle star was worth five points towards the eventual discharge they respected their four stars more than before. In fact, those battle stars made a belated but proud appearance on the chests of those who had previously taken them most lightly. After all, five points

And when the smoke of the announcement had cleared away, some fifty men found themselves above the critical 85 points ... some one hundred and eighty five within the lunatic fringe ... 75 to 85 ... and the abalance shrugged their shoulders and prepared to dig in for the long wait.

From the twelfth on, reason was displaced by rumor. Each day brought a fresh one. The man had been given to understand that there was possiblility of two extra stars being granted ... which would have pleased the men over 85, have wildly delighted the men "in-between" and even brought a measure of hope to the underlings. But the days passed and no stars came in. And as the month wore itself out in sheer exhaustion orders came through for the transfer of all the men of over eighty five points. It wasn't easy for those just under the score. But they still clung to their hope.

On the twelfth Flight Officers George H Neff III and Meyer Rothfarb were commissioned as Second Lieutenants and Captain Don Liljenquist joined the unit.

On the seventhenth Captain James E Bowers, the Squadron S-2 officer was sent away on a sixty-day detached service job in Paris and Sgt Bruno Mathien went off to Hq UsSSTAF on special duty

The twenty-third saw Flight Officer Fortunato A Carello being commissioned as a Second Lieutenant. John Miner, the staff Sergeant in charge of the radar section was released and started on his way to the Zone of the Interior while Sergeant. Max Kushmer sustained a serious injury on his pass in London which was so severe as to cause his return to the United States at a later date.

As the month drew to a close the men were assmebled by order of Colonel Sutterlinand told that they were to ge part of the Army of Occupation and that they were to continue as they had been through the war years. The men scuffed the groun and thought of home and hoped they could go on as they had.

And with the end of May Lieutenant Colonel David K Lyster Jr, the man who had commanded the Squadron for the past seven months went on back to the States turning his command over to Captain Charles E Robbs, former Operations Officers

MONDAY, TUESDAY APRIL 1-2: NO MISSIONS.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3: TODAY NINE OF OUR A/C FLEW IN THE "D" SQUADRON AS OUR GROUP ATTACKED THE GERMAN NAVAL BASE AT KIEL. THERE WAS NO DAMAGE OR CASUALTIES TO OUR A/C. THE OPERATIONAL INTELLIGENCE NARRATIVE TELLS THAT FOR THE "D" SQUADRON "THE R/N (RADAR NAVIGATION) IDENTIFIED WARGET AND ESTIMATES BOMBS IN TARGET AREA." FLAK WAS DEAGER AND INACCURATE. THEY FLEW OVER 9/10 CDOUD ON THE WAS IN TO FIND 10/10 OVER THE PRIMARY TARGET. THE ESCORT FIGHTERS WERE ON TIME, PROVIDING EXCELLENT COVER. HERE'S A SAMPLE OF WHAT THE CREWS WERE BRIEFED ON TN THE WAY OF FLAK. THEY WERE BRIEFED FOR 104 GUNS IN THE TARGET AREA PLUS 12 GUNS JUST SW OF TARGET ALONG KIEL CANAL. COURSE FROM IP TO TARGET TO RP WILL ENCOUNTER APPROXIMATELY 80 GUNS PLUS NAVAL FLAK. THIS WAS OPERATIONAL MISSION NUMBER 358.

THURSDAY, APRIL 4: THIS MORNING THE BBC ANNOUNCED THAT MONTY WAS 25 MILES FRON THE ZUIDER ZEE. PATTON 65 MILES FROM THE CZECH BORDER AND 150 MILES FROM BERLIN.

THE CREWS WERE BRIEFED EARLY FOR ANOTHER MISSION ON KIEL. PART OF THE BRIEFING CONSISTED OF A MESSAGE FROM GENERAL PARTRIDGE TELLING THE CREWS THAT "THE TIME FOR DARE-DEVIL EXPLOITS IS NOW OVER : " HE WARNED THAT TARGETS AND ARICRAFT MUST BE PISITIVELY IDENTIFIED BEFORE BEING ATTACKED, THAT THE ACTIONS OF U.S. CREWS HAS A DIRECT BEARING ON INTER-NATIONAL RELATIONS, "AMERICAN PERSONNEL MUST APPRECIATE THAT THE ACTS OF EVERY OFFICE AND MAN EFFECT THE ATTITUDE OF FOREIGN ### COUNTRIES TOWARDS THE U.S. INFRACTION OF LOCAL RULES REGARDLESS OF HOW SLIGHT, HELP TO RUPTURE INTERNATIONAL GOODWILL." SPECIAL CARE WAS TO BE TAKEN TO AVOID BOMBING THE KIEL CANAL AS RELIEF SHIPS TO HOLLAND ARE USING THIS ROUTE.

NINE OF OUR A/C.FLEW THE "B" SQUADRON. THERE WERE NO DAMAGE OR CAS-UALTIES. THE INTELLIGENCE NARRATIVE REPORTS THAT "100 B PHOTOS SHOW BOMBS HIT SSW #5 9000 FETT. HITS ON RR TRACK. POOR " FIGHTER ESCORT WAS ON TIME. BAD WEATHER PREVENTED BOMBING OF THE PRIMARY TARGET.

THURSDAY APRIL 5: BRIEFING AT 0400 THIS MORNING FOR MISSION 360. EIGHT OF OUR A/C FLEW IN THE "A" SQUADRON LEADING THE GROUP. ONE FLEW IN THE"D". NURNBURG WAS THE TARGET AND WAS ATTACKED VISUALLY. THE INTELLIGENCE NARRATIVE TELLS THE SECONDARY TARGET WAS BOMBED BY H2X DUE TO BAD WEATHER. THE MO'S BELIEVE BOMBS ON TARGET. FLAK FROM IP TO BRL, MONE. FROM BRL TO RP, MEAGER INACCURATE SCATTERED BARRAGE. THE FIGHTER SUPPORT WAS VERY GOOD. THE TARGET WAS A RR STATION IN THE CENTER OF LEIPZIG. THE A/C WERE BACK ABOUT 1430 JUST AS IT STARTED TO RAIN. FOR EVEING CHOW IN THE COMSOLIDATED MESS WE HAD PEAS, SPWAGHETTI, JAM, BREAD, COFFEE AND CHOCOLATE PIE. NOT BAD AT ALL.

SATURDAY APRIL 7: BRIEFING FRO MISSION 362 THIS JORNING TOLD OF THE TARGET, AN UNDERGHOUND OIL STORAGE, AT BUCHEN. WE PUT UP NINE A/C IN THE "D" SQUADRON. THE A/C CAME BACK SHOT UP BADLY. 945, LT G/P.KANE PILOT HAD SERIOUS DAMAGE DUE TO E/A. LT M MASHYNA IN 162 HAD AA DAMAGE. 821, LT W.D.PRATT PILOT HAD SERIOUS AA DAMAGE PICKED UP FROM THE IP TO BRL. 071, LT. A.R. CALDER PILOT, WAS SHOT DOWN BEFORE THE TARGET WHEN FIGHTERS HIT. THE E/A TACTICS WARRATIVE OF THE BUCHEN RAID TELLS THE STORY:

"BANDITS WERE CALLED OUT AT 1245 HOURS NEAR STEINHUDER LAKE (5227-0920E). AT THAT TIME THERE WERE LOTS OF VAPOR TRAISL HIGH ABOVE OUR GROUP BORMA-TIONS. THE FORMATION TIGHTENED UP, AND WERE MASSED TOGETHER WHEN E/A STARTED COMING IN. THEY DIVED IN FROM ABOVE, JOST OF THEM CAME OUT OF THE SUN AND HEADED TOWARDS A 6 O'CLOCK POSTION FROM OUR FORMATION, THEY WERE IN THREE7S AND FOUR S WHEN FIRST SEEN AND WERE BEING ATTACKED BY A FEW ESCORT FIGHTERS, THEY QUICKLY WERE BROKEN UP AND ALL ATTACKES WERE MADE BY SINGLE E/A . THERE WAS AN ESTIMATE 40 S/E E/A MOSTLY ME 109 S AND ABOUT 10 ME 262'S (JET JOBS) IN THE AREA. THE ME 262'S CIRCLED ABOVE AND A FEW PASSED OUR FORMATION AT OUR LEVEL, BUT NONE ATTACKED. THE ATTACKING E/A CAME IN FROM ALL CLOCK POSITIONS, BUT MOST ATTACKS WERE PRESSED FROM 9 TO 11 O'CLOCK HIGH AND FROM 1 TO 3 O'CLOCK HIGH WITH E/A COMING IN FROM FLYING A PURSUIT CURVE DOWN THROUGH THE FORMATION AND PULLING UP ON TH THE OTHER SIDE OF FORMATION 500 TP 700 YARDS OUT THEN TURNING FOR ANOTHER PASS. OTHERS ATTACKED FROM 5 TO 7 O'CLOCK HIGH AND LOW AND PRESSED THEIR ATTACK INTO THE GROUP FORMATION. USUALLY DIVING FOWN BETWEEN SQUADRON ELEMENTS. E/A WERE TAKING BULL ADVANTAFE OF THE THIN HIGH CIRRUS AND VAPOR TRAILS AVOVE AND SCATTERED CLOUDS BELOW. THEY ALSO MADE PASSES OUT OF THE SUN BUT THERE DID NOT APPEAR TO BE ANY COORDINATION OF ATTACKS. THE PLAN SEEMED TO BE FOR EACH E/A TO ATTACK AND TURN FOR ANOTHER ATTACK UNTIL TIEY WERE SHOT DOWN OR RAN OUT OF AMMUNITION. THEY WOULD OPEN FIRE WITH BOTH MG AND 20 MM AND FIRE FROM ABOUT 500 YARDS UNTIL THEY PASSED-THROUGH THE FORMATION. ELEVEN OF OUR A/C RECEIVED BATTLE DAMAGE FROM THESE ATTACKS. TWO OF THESE WERE SHOT DOWN." "E/A PILOTS WERE FANATICALLY &GGRESSIVE. THEY CAME IN THROUGH HEAVY CONCENTRATIONS OF FIRE FROM OUT GUNS. VERY

MOVIES FOR MAY

Eighteen films hit the base in May, 1945. The current Hollywood products were joined by five revivals that creaked across the whitewashed canvas. Two productions of ancient vintage started off the month. Cagney snarled his way thru the "Roaring Twenties", and botty Lamour dusted off her sarong for "Her Jungle Love". After "True to Life", Bob Hope popped up with Madeleine Carroll in "My Favorite Blond". Ann Sheridan heated up the house in "Shine On Harvest Moon" in spite of a corny script. Another poor doctor- pampered gal romance followed ("And Now Tomarrow"), with Alan Ladd being tough as the medic..... "This is the Life" was followed by Boyer and Dunne being "Together Again", a slick, sophisticated comedy that wasn't quite as funny as it meant to be..... "Keep Your Powder Dry" proved that women are G.I. too and that most of the WACs look like Lana Turner and Laraine Day "Song of Bernadette" filled the house, after which "Hostages" took over. A good book was given the old Hollywood treatment and slaughtered here..... "Legs" Grable made with the gams in "Pin-Up Girl", and nobody bothered to pay attention to the story or script, which was just as well.... "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" proved pleasant fare, and "Frenchman's Creek" gave us Joan Fontaine in technicolor. What more d'yuh want?.... Cagney came back with "Each Dawn I Die", and then Boris the Karloff scowled his closeups prettily in "The Climax", which scared nobody but little children under three, of which there were none in the audience.... The month ended with Beery and Gleason mugging their merry was thru "This Han's Navy"... All in all, a "B" month..

May, 1945, found the 351st. Squadron Armament Section loading no more bombs. Instead "buscuit bombing" was being carried out and two such missions were flown at the time the War was declared at an end.

After the cessation of hostilities, a new type of activity took place in the section. Orders were issued to start taking guns out of shipsand storing them. New ships were being sent into the squadron and these also had a great deal of equipment to be taken out of them.

All the equipment which had been in use for two and a half years was taken by the section and turned into Group. The storage tent at the back of the Armament shop was dismantled and turned into Tech supply.

During the month of May a total of 470fficers and enlisted men among the flying personnel were put through their paces and given instructions in the care and maintenance of bomb racks and machine guns; care and maintenance of turrets; and bomb loading and bomb fuzing operations. In accordance with a desire from higher headquarters, the officers and men being instructed did most of the actual work and were more than interested to participate in work of this kind. This particular training was discontinued on the 23rd of the month when a new group schedule was put into effect.

The topic which got to be of the most interest during the month, of course, was points. Nearly every one in the section had 85 or more to take him home. Some of the men desired to go out to the Pacific Theatre. As the month closed not much action had been taken in shipping personnel out of the Squadron.

Administrative routine did not vary in any way. Reports continued to be turned in as scheduled and passes and furloughs were granted as they came due. lst. Lieutenant Eugene J. Kraft was promoted to the rank of Captain on the 16th of May. Captain Kraft has been filling two jobs in the 35lst for over a year and a half; Squadron Armament Officer and also Squadron Ordnance Officer.

Looking back on the many dozens of months the section had been over here doing its job of loading bombs and servicing ships, tonnage loaded ran into the 10,000's. Due to the efforts of the Non-commissioned officers in charge, accidents were not serious and few and far between. There were no fatalities in the section due to negligence or careless handling of equipment.

Taking the human interest point of view, the armorers made their job a part of their lives, not particularly because they had to, but because it helped them become more efficient. So the close of hostilities saw a closely welded team of men who did their work imaginatively and well. During those dull moments which eventually come, they pressed their pants, or rode each other about Texas or Vermont, or kidded the neighbors children. They never forgot about home, and as the month closed, many of them wondered just how long it would be before they finally got there.

PRO Information - Officers and enlisted men who have won the Air Medal and other decorations may have their pictures taken at the Fublic Relations Office. Two prints will be given the individual and prints sent to home-town newspapers. Pictures are being taken at 2 p. m. each day, weather permitting.

Those deserving Luckye Bastarde diplomas - any officer or enlisted man with one or more combat missions to his credit - should sign for diploma at the Public Relations Office immediately, as issuing of the L.B.'s will be discontinued soon.

Longevity Pay - The attention of all officers of this station is directed to the decision of the Comptroller General of the United States, dated 6 April 1944 (23 Comp. Gen. 755), in which it was held that enlisted service performed in the National Guard by an individual prior to the attainment of 18 years of age, may not be counted for longevity pay purposes.

No further payments of longevity pay for this type of service will be made. Any officers currently being paid longevity pay for National Guard Service as an enlisted man prior to the attainment of 18 years of age, contact the Station Finance Officer immediately.

Collection of Old Clothes for Europe's Needy - The needs are many in the liber-ated countries of Europe. The disruption of communications, scarcity of essenti materials, idle factories, and displaced employees create many problems. The need of clothing for children, refugees, old women, and returning freed slave laborers is considerable.

It is believed that many articles of clothing to meet this need can be collected from the personnel of this Station. A spring house cleaning will undoubtedly result in many pieces of personally owned clothes being found which the owner will wish to contribute to this worthy cause. Any type of clothing, except government issue, will be acceptable; shirts, wool and cotton, socks, pajamas, shoes, overcoats, raincoats, trousers, sweaters, scarfs, underclothes, summer or winter, and any other piece of clothing. All clothing will be turned in at your unit supply room prior to 23 June 1945.

A plaque will be presented, at an official ceremony, to the Station collecting the most pieces of clothing.

All individuals possessing athletic equipment issued by Special Services will turn in this equipment immediately.

I & E Library - Receptacles have been installed throughout the Station for collection of books, magazines, etc, for use of the Station I & E Library. These gifts are urgently needed in order for the Library to stock a variety of reading material for Station personnel.
